Dear Editor.

iust wanted to write and tell you how much we enjoy the Rodeo News at the Bruegman household. I especially love the picture in your current issue of Ryann Packard from Medicine Lodge, KS at the Little Britches Finals. This picture shows such intensity and determination. I have cut it out on put it on my desk. If looking at little Ryann doesn't motivate you I don't know what would:) It also makes me giggle a little too and reminds me why to go out and practice and keep riding. Somestimes we loose the pure joy, fun, thrill of competing. I just had to write and tell whoever captured that moment is a great photographer. It is not very often you can caption that much emotion in a photgraph and even more impressive is the emotion of everyone who sees the photo.

Keep doing great work! Holly Bruegman t's been almost 2 years and I still have not properly said "Thank You" for the article you did on my dad in your magazine.

I have always thought saying "Thank you" just wasn't enough and that with time I'd find words that would better express how much it meant to my mother, my siblings and to me; but here I am, still no further along than the day you notified me (see below).

I truly was and have been at a loss for words, it meant so very much ... it did bring tears to my eyes ... it was professionally done, awesome. It was a tribute to my dad that will not be forgotten.

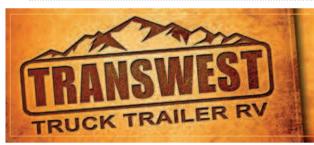

Forgive me for not finding more words to say and please accept my most sincere "Thank You!" My dad was one heck of a fella ... a cowboy (one of the best horsemen in the area, if not the best), a father, a friend, a follower of Christ ... you'd have loved him

... and he'd have loved to have met you and yours too. Literally, thousands have shared coffee with him and I believe most left knowing he made the world a better place to live. He treated most as though they were long lost friends that were renewing acquaintances and picking up right where they left off ...

Know you are welcome around our campfire ... anytime! Bob and Karen Tescher Bismarck ND

GIVING UP THE CEMEINHARDT

here are a couple of things I put aside to go down this path ... one of the most treasured is my Gemeinhardt open hole flute. Yep ... I grew up in a rural school and music was mandatory. So I picked the path of least weight since I had to walk to school (not uphill two miles each way, but I could come close) ... the flute. It took me a month to figure out how to blow into the mouthpiece to make a sound. I took my music seriously and sat first chair flute through high school. I tried out for the Florida State marching band and ended up making the cut, marching all over the southeast my freshman year of college. Playing the flute at a rodeo doesn't fit. But neither do many of my degrees from college. What does fit is that all of my paths led to this ... the Rodeo News. It amazes me how God works! Passion for what I am doing seems to be the bottom line to everything I do. I dig out my flute once in awhile and play on my back porch, but that's the extent of it.

We are heading into fall and school has started. With that, the high school and college rodeos kick off, the amateur rodeos head to their finals and we get started on our Vegas issue. We have introduced a new column in this issue - Rodeo News Flash. We keep getting great new innovations in the equipment we use in rodeo and we've decided we need to showcase it. If you've got something you want us to feature, send it to me. Word count needs to be around 300 and a photo (300 dpi).

I am also looking for some writers for our meet the members. A few of our writers are back in school as well so we have some associations that need covered.

I had a great trip to Faith, South Dakota, where I went to a little Lutheran Church and enjoyed the fellowship brunch afterwards.

I got to see a glimpse of the motorcyle march to Sturgis - and was glad to skirt the majority of it. I find it intriguing that motorcylces from all over the country show up in rural South Dakota! Why not Vegas or Reno or ....

I'll leave you with this. My interview with Amberley challenged me to always appreciate every single challenge I face. It also challenged me to find encouraging words for every person every day. She shared a few discouraging things people told her along the way and I realized that I do the same thing. I have one opportunity to make someone feel good about themselves and that's what I should do.

So, I'll start with my staff. I am constantly asked how we get so much information into these pages every two weeks and it's all about them. Deven, Anne Marie, and Lacey - my humblest thanks for caring for this as much as I do. Passion is a great gift and I couldn't do this without each of you.

My church family is my rock. They are always glad to see me when I get the chance to be there and I know if I had any trouble, they would be right there.

And last, but not least, my extended rodeo family ...

Take the hurt out of the hit.

Even the best roping horse won't stay working if they hurt. Don't let the pain from ill fitting saddles or worn out saddle pads keep your horse from performing at its best.

The Comfort-Fit® Air Ride™ Saddle pad is designed specifically with the team roper in mind. The blanket-top, insert, and merino wool are contoured to follow the natural curve of your horse's back. Your Saddle will stay locked in place to minimize rolling and slipping. The breathable Air Ride core absorbs the shock of the hit, allows your horse's back to breath, and prevents painful pressure points so your horse stays comfortable and working.

MISSING

ave you ever went to an event or walked into a room and noticed something different? Maybe you have noticed something out of sorts or out of place. You just couldn't put your finger on it, but you knew that something just didn't feel right. Something was off!

I went to a rodeo a couple weeks ago, and when we were coming into the rodeo arena, something felt weird; something felt off. When I went to pay my fees. I conversed with friends: some that I had not seen in a few months and others I saw just a few days ago, but I could not get rid of the nagging feeling that something was missing. As the rodeo progressed, I finally put my finger on the one thing that was not there! One very important person was not in attendance; a great friend, an amazing father, an awesome brother, a rodeo athlete and a true American cowboy. Yes, Cole, we all miss you and the world is not the same without you, but we will see you again soon.

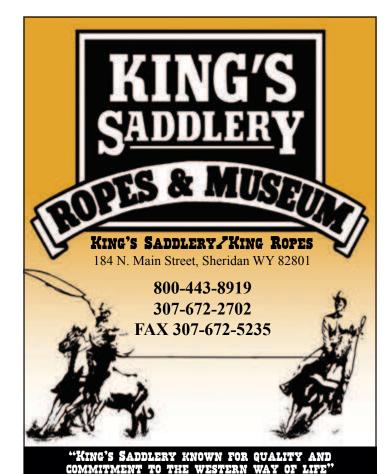

Sometimes we go through the motions just because we are there, simply because we have to. I would like to imagine that life was never designed to be this way. I certainly hope that we are truly running a race that has miraculous rewards at the finish line. I can only hope that when we live our lives without anything missing, we can truly inherit these miracles!

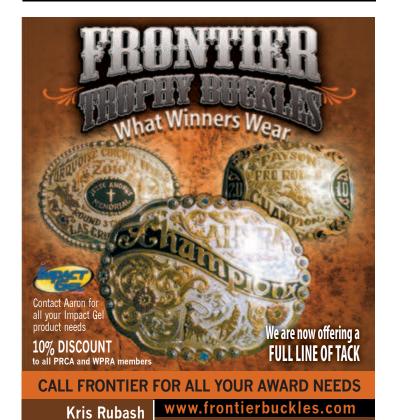

Do you not know that those who run in a race all run, but one receives the prize? Run in such a way that you may obtain it (1Corinthians 9:24).

This is what the bible communicates to us how God sees our life. God wants us to know without a doubt that the prize is well worth the sacrifice! God wants us to hope only in Him and know that each and every day that we live for Jesus; nothing is missing and nothing is broken, EVERYTHING IS PERFECT WITH JESUS! Paul passes this message on to us,

"But you be watchful in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill your ministry. For I am already being poured out as a drink offering, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Finally, there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give to me on that Day, and not to me only but also to all who have loved His appearing."

When we live with this mentality, that we endure afflictions for the Glory of God, that we are sharing the Gospel, and that we are fulfilling our ministry; God will give us the most amazing and perfect prize that is well beyond our imagination. We will never have that feeling that something is off when we truly seek God first in all things. We will know that nothing is missing when we do ALL things for the Glory of God. Yes, we will miss those that have gone before us, but God even reminds us that we will see them again soon and furthermore, we will be with them for eternity! May God bless you all and remember to serve God with all of your talents!

ody Samora, from Cortez, Colo., is currently sitting fifth in the PRCA World Standings. He knew he wanted to be a bull rider when he was three years old. "I loved it. I pretended on everything I could get on from a horse to a sheep to a tree or a barrel. That's what I played 24/7."

The 23-year-old has been plagued with injuries since he broke his wrist at the College National Finals Rodeo in 2009. "That took me out for six months," he said. "I broke my hand and that took me out another six months."

This year has been different though. "I've had the chance to stay healthy all winter up until Pocatello, Idaho, and then in Greeley I broke my shoulder ... after Chevenne I took a few weeks off." Cody has been home for three weeks and is heading to Washington.

"It's what I do and what I love. I was never going to give up on it, I just needed to stay healthy for awhile." Cody made the National High School Finals in his senior year and then went to college at Howard College in Big Spring, Texas, for four years. He made the college finals twice, 2008 and 2009. He graduated as a certified Ranch Manager and plans to use that one day when he's done chasing the WNFR.

Staying injury free has not come easy for him. "Staying in shape and keeping your muscles limber is as important and getting off your bulls right," he said. Cody spends a lot of time practicing and stretching to help him stay in the race.

Cody credits his dad, Tommy, a former bronc rider, as being his biggest influence in his rodeo career. When he gets off the road, Cody heads home to Cortez and spends time with his family (mom, Peggy and sister, Carmen, and dad). He's determined to make the WNFR. "That's one of the goals I set for myself and I've made it happen."

He encourages up-and-coming bull riders to "Put your full heart into it - it comes to some people easier than others, and don't let anybody stop you or tell you you can't do it."

"I cant' wait to get to Vegas ... it's a dream come true."

LIFE'S REAL FAILURE IS WHEN

YOU DID NOT REALIZE HOW CLOSE YOU WERE TO SUCCESS WHEN YOU GAVE UP! >>

by Siri Stevens -----

mberley Snyder started riding when she was three in California. "We lived in Laguna Hills, definitely not horse country," said the 21-year-old from Elk Ridge, Utah. "I kept saying 'me ride , mommy, me ride,' and she finally found a place to take me." Amberley's dad, Cory Snyder, played for the Los Angeles Dodgers and when the family moved to Utah, Amberley said she would only move if she got a Palomino barrel horse. Her dad delivered and the rest is history. Amberley and her Palomino, Lacey, competed in Buckaroos, junior rodeos, and all the barrel racing associations, then junior high and high school. "Any rodeo I could hit, I did," she said. On a horse named Jazzy, she won the National Little Britches World and Finals All Around Title in 2009, competing in barrels. Poles, goats and breakaway. "I was sitting 10th in the all around standings going into the Little Britches Finals," she said. "It was a really good finals - the best of my life." She also made it to the National High School Finals, but hit a pole.

That same year she was elected as the Utah State FFA President, so she opted to set out a year before heading to college. She was accepted at Oklahoma Panhandle State with a full ride academic scholarship and made the call to the rodeo coach, Craig Lathum, to rodeo.

January 10, 2010, was the day that all those plans changed. Amberley was heading to the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colo., when she rolled her truck. "I had gotten back on the freeway after fueling up in Rawlins, and hadn't gotten my seatbelt on when I had the wreck," she said. "As you realize that you are going to roll at 70 mph, I figured it was it. I shut my eyes and heard all the crashing and banging and I felt myself leave out of the truck. When I was out of the truck, and

I hit a fencepost and that's what broke my back. When I opened my eyes and realized I was still here, I was going to Colorado for 2 ½ weeks, so my truck was pretty full. I was looking around and saw everything that I owned surrounding me on the side of the freeway. I could move my fingers and went to move my toes, but I couldn't move them. I knew something wasn't right. My legs felt like they were in warm water even though I was sitting in a snow bank. I was trying to see if I could feel anything and I couldn't. I knew I had bigger problems."

Amberley waited for someone to come and when they finally did, they were able to find her phone and she called her dad, who was in Hawaii, "because I figured my mom would freak out. I talked to the police and the paramedics - who slid the backboard under me - and that's the first pain I felt. We got in the ambulance and that was the beginning of lots of IVs - I'd never stayed in the hospital, never broke a bone before that day. In Rawlins I was waiting to fly to Casper, all I could think of was all the things I needed to do - rodeos, FFA, and wondered how I would get it all done."

She broke T12 and at first was told she'd never move anything from the waist down. She is hoping for much better than that first prognosis and has since regained sensation to a lot of her lower limbs. "My spinal cord was never severed, so realistically it is possible to regain movement in some muscles," she said. In the meantime, Amberley is confined to a wheelchair.

Riding horses was another aspect of her injury that she was unwilling to give up. "They told me I'd have to find something going to be the same. I couldn't ride like I used to." Amberley couldn't keep her legs from kicking and had a hard time at first keeping her balance. "I got frustrated and told mom to sell my horses. I went off to school that fall and left the horses at home." She got on again when she got back from school because a reporter wanted some pictures of her on a horse. "I got on and picked up a lope. It was immediate happiness and that's how it was. That felt good. I knew it wasn't going to be the same - but it was okay. And that was my mentality. From there we figured out how I could run barrels." With the help of Stacy Glause and Sonoma Mountain Tack in Spanish Fork, she was able to keep centered in the saddle and make her legs as stationary as possible.

She entered the Rocky Mountain Pro Rodeos and won a check in one a week ago. "I'm riding on hope - and the plan is to run the RMPRA this year and get my permit next year and then I'll do some on my permit and continue to do the RMPRA."

Amberley will go to school this fall in Logan at Utah State. "I'm going to be an ag teacher in high school. I'm pretty excited after traveling with the FFA, I love teaching. So that's what I'm going to do. I'm not going to college rodeo - I did that last fall. My else to do and I told them that riding horses is not what I do. it's who I am."

Getting in the saddle again was a long process. "I got on for the first time in May - four months after my wreck. I figured after I got on my horse, everything would be fine. Some family friends came up to help and watch. I got on and my heart sank. I realized it wasn't doctor wants me to chill out for health reasons."

Amberley admits there are some down days. "When I get sad, I have to reevaluate and make a new goal. I have two jobs that I work so that helps a lot. And I know that there are too many people that let something like this ruin their life. Hard things happen to everybody. It's up to you how you handle it. It will either ruin your life, or you can get up and keep going."

Amberley went to Florida to do some therapy and is hoping that she will regain some muscle use in the future. She is now driving with hand controls and recently convinced her mom to put them in her F350 so she can drive the truck and trailer. But the biggest thing she has learned from her accident is to "take advantage of every run—you never know if it might be your last. Feel blessed that you are there. You get to go—if anything in life goes wrong, don't let it keep you down. It's frustrating for me to see people whose lives are wasted because they are down about something."

"I wouldn't be where I am at without the support of family and friends. I have five siblings in my family and two great parents who have helped me to still strive towards my goals in life. I have learned to never let someone else tell me what I am capable of... what I want to accomplish is up to me in life."

has a pet peave and one of mine and a lot of other people is the practice of falling in love with the left lane. As we were headed to San Antonio last weekend to the PBR event used road that loops around Austin and literally saves you 45 minutes of driving. The new speed for this toll road is 80 mph. At 80 mph you can get somewhere

I began to understand how people could develope road rage and although I don't condone it I understand how people could snap back to the old rubbing is racing adage and how nice it would be to spin out the caprice classic with the 22" rims in front of me. I might note that I was driving my daughters Chevrolet Equinox with the ZTA sorority crown hanging from the mirror. I soon learned it is not a very intimidating vehicle. It is however a flag to other drivers saying he won't do anything so just ignore him. Since I couldnt do anything to show them how tough I really am I decided to write about it in the hopes that it will help someone understand a few things about left laners. First, it is agianst the law in most states to drive in the left lane and not move over and allow other lawful drivers to pass.

Secondly, it is not a safer lane since you are obviously closer to oncoming traffic and stand a greater risk of getting rear ended by drivers behind you. This is especially true if you are going below the posted speed limit and the person behind you does not like left laners. Lastly, it is disrespectful to other drivers and makes you look like you are unaware of your surroundings like posted speed limits and the LAW! I might note that of the 3 wrecks I saw between here and San Antonio all were rear end collisions. I somehow started developing a similarity between left laners and those people who go through life unaware of anything around them and reflects a lack of courtesy to others.

Too harsh? I don't think so. I tried to get my daughter to let me put a bumper sticker on her car that said "My other vehicle is a dually" but she didn't see the humor in it and said no. In closing I feel I can speak for a lot of you out there when I politely say, get your...

Take care.

"THE FRIENDS I'VE HAD FOR FORTY YEARS OF RODEO ARE STILL SOME OF
MY BEST FRIENDS TODAY. AND THAT'S WHY IT'S ALL BEEN WORTH IT." >>

little bit. You win one, you're an addict."

Norman worked for a few years out of high school, then decided to go to college. He became a student at Colorado State University in 1971, working his way through school. He was a member of the CSU rodeo team, competing in the barebacks and steer wrestling.

After being accepted to veterinarian school, rodeo took a back seat. He continued to compete in the summers, but vet school came first.

By this time, Norman was done riding barebacks, and he turned his attention to steer wrestling. He got his Pro Rodeo Cowboys Association permit, and competed at Mountain States Circuit rodeos.

His first job after graduation in 1979 was as a race track veterinarian in Raton, N.M. He was in Raton for a year, then worked at the Centennial Race Track in Denver for another year before beginning his own practice in Woodland Park.

Owning his own practice freed him up to rodeo. "After I got my own practice, I had a little money to do that stuff," he says. He bought a second permit, and filled it as he steer wrestled across Colorado and Wyoming. Once in a while, he and his rodeo friends would take off for a big run: Nampa, Idaho; Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, Cheyenne, Wyo., the winter Texas rodeos, and Tucson. "Those were the fun trips," he says. "I wish I could do it today."

Norman learned a lot about steer wrestling from the Dorenkamp family and Fred Sherwood in Holly, Colo. "Those guys were top of the line steer wrestlers, and I learned as much as I could learn from them, and I rode their horses." They are still good friends today.

In 1986, he quit steer wrestling. During a practice run in Holly, he had discloated a hip and it took a while to heal. Norman quit competing in the PRCA and went to amateur rodeos. But it wasn't the same. "After going to those good rodeos, I wasn't so excited about going to the other ones."

He began team roping and now competes in the U.S. Team Roping Championships, and at local jackpots.

Even though he loves the sport, his life was not dedicated to rodeo. "It takes a lot of time to practice, if you're going to be competitive nowadays, and it's not cheap." He looks back across the years, and wishes he could have rodeoed more, but it wasn't possible. "I wrestled with the whole deal: commit to rodeo, commit to vet school. I fortunately figured it was better to commit to vet school. My rodeo was sporadic. I'd win a little here and win a little there." But he doesn't regret his decisions. "I met a lot of really neat people, and that's been worth it. The friends I've had for forty years of rodeo are still some of my best friends today. And that's why it's all been worth it."

Norman's parents weren't very supportive of him when he started competing. "They said, 'You're just going to get crippled up and break bones.' They were pretty much right," he says. "But they didn't realize the other side of it, the experience, the people you met, the whole rodeo culture."

The rodeo culture is something that Norman enjoys and appreciates. In rodeo,

"you all have common interests, and you end up knowing a whole lot of people who do the same thing you do. It's thee code of the west, and, to me, it's alive. In rodeo, you depend on people. You get on a guy's bulldogging horse, he hazes for you, he tries to do the very best job he can do. Unless you're involved in it, people don't understand it."

He also appreciates the trust that is inherent in rodeo. "For most other competitive things, people are out for themselves. In rodeo, it's unique that you tell (your competitor) the best you can about the bull, the horse, the barrier, how to ride your bulldogging horse. There's a lot of trust."

Being a contestant has given him, as a vet, a different perspective of performance horses. "Rodeo horses are worth a lot of money, so you treat them a little bit different. You treat them like an athlete. People are usually willing to do whatever they can to improve their horse's condition."

He met his wife Lori in Colorado Springs. She was a horse owner, and he did an exam of her horses. They married in 2009. Lori and he have a common interest: horses. "I'm not sure that's good," Norman laughs. She is involved in dressage, and she has three children.

In addition to his vet service, Norman has a small cow herd on the ranch where the Armentrout family has lived since 1890.

FEATURE Performance Horse by Siri Stevens

esse Jolly does a lot of day work, cowboy work, and breaking colts near his home in Agate, Colo. "I spend a lot of time on horses, so I know a decent amount about them," said the PRCA steer wrestler, team roper and saddle bronc rider. "Keeping them feeling good is the hardest thing about hauling them down the road. Both of the horses I'm hauling have a little age on them and getting them out and exercising them enough is tough." Jesse feeds his horses a four way grain and Formula 707 products, including Daily Essentials, and has his mare on the hoof supplement. "She has really terrible feet and after a year, it seems to be helping her out."

Jesse is the only one at this printing that is qualified for the Linderman Award. "Nobody has won in all three events yet," he said. "It's far from over - some guys have won more than me, and could dang sure beat me. I feel pretty good to be part of it."

The team roping has been the best year Jesse has had yet. Steer wrestling has been tough. "I've been catching a lot of steers for money but not taking advantage of the situation. I haven't been doing my part once I get a hold of them."

Roping with Brian Dunning, the team has been going alot. "I'm trying to get to the All American Finals, where you have to be in the top 30 of the standings – only the rodeos with under $3,000 qualify and you have to go to 30 rodeos, so we set our goal to get there this year and it looks like we'll make it."

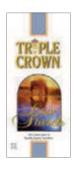

His favorite part of the country is the Northwest. "I think those rodeos are the neatest I've ever been to. Once you get up there, there's a bunch you can get to." He hauls in a three horse slant Travalong stock combo with wood shavings as flooring. "My horses have been hauled enough, they're used to it. If I'm heading to the rodeo, I'll get them out every five or six hours. If we're coming home, we go through. I turn them out in pasture and let them relax a day or two before I work them again."

He is working on replacement horses for his as well as some prospects that he plans to sell. "I'm trying to find the next great one to haul down the road." Most of his training takes place during his work as a cowboy. "I don't know how anybody gets a horse trained without cowboying on them. They learn how to do it from doing normal work. They get tired and then they listen better."

Jesse is also getting ready to put on his third annual ranch rodeo on September 22. "We take 16 teams for that and this year we're doing a match calf roping and we'll let the winner come back and match them." Most of the events, which include pasture roping, calf roping, mounted shooting, and relay races, take place in an open pasture with fresh cattle, right off the pasture. "We go to quite a few and this one pays good and is pretty wild; it takes a better hand to win."

WRANGLER® MARKS THE START OF A NEW GENERATION OF COWBOYS

Leading western wear brand reinvigorates Wrangler® 20X® collection with launch of Competition Jean Style #01 and all-star team of endorsees

REENSBORO, N.C. – Wrangler® Western Wear - the iconic American denim brand and leading western apparel maker - announced today exciting updates to the fall Wrangler® 20X® collection, designed for today's cowboy who wants to look great in and out of the arena.

Led by the launch of the new Competition Jean Style #01 – endorsed by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) the Wrangler® 20X® collection sports the performance features required for extreme activities and the look desired for everything else – a combination that gives him confidence while he's competing, performing, and just hanging out.

The Competition Jean will hit store shelves mid-September and offer a mid rise that sits at the waist; an extra relaxed seat and thigh for freedom of movement; heavy weight denim for added durability and strength; leg openings to fit over boots; and a cell phone pocket for convenience

The Wrangler® 20X® collection is backed by a team of first-class competitive endorsees. From a world champion cowboy to a football player with giant stats, the latest class of Wrangler® 20X® endorsees is at the top of their game:

- Kaycee Feild: PRCA world champion bareback rider and member of the Wrangler National Patriot Team raising awareness for American troops overseas, who wears his jeans on and off the dirt
- Bear Pascoe: Professional football tight end for the New York Giants who wears Wrangler® 20X® jeans when he's roping, and hanging out with friends and family
- Silvano Alves: Professional Bull Riders world champion who represents the western lifestyle in the U.S. and abroad in his Wrangler® 20X® jeans
- Austin Meier: Professional Bull Riders champion who requires durability and strength in every aspect of his life, including his jeans
- Cody Johnson: Native Texan recording artist who puts his jeans through as much on the stage as cowboys do in the arena

"Wrangler 20X addresses the need of a new generation of cowboy who's involved in the western way of life and the sport of rodeo in some way, even if he's not a ProRodeo competitor," said Robin Rich, senior marketing manager, Wrangler Western Wear. "We are thrilled to partner with this group of young, fresh faces who epitomize that active lifestyle."

With a new label that celebrates the legacy of the Wrangler name, the collection's rebranding will also be marked with a new logo, advertising campaign, in-store POS, and social media components. To access exclusive Wrangler® 20X® team content, find Wrangler Western on Facebook at www.facebook.com/wranglerwestern, Twitter at www.twitter.com/wranglerwestern, YouTube at www.youtube.com/WranglerJeans, and for more from Wrangler, visit www.wrangler.com.

LUCAS METAL ROOFING PANELS CAN HELP STOP SPREAD OF WILDFIRE

help save homes in areas ravaged by wildfire.

Lucas Metal Roofing's metal panels are Class A fire resistant rating which is the highest rating given in accordance to the UL 790 standard test methods for fire resistant tests of roof coverings. The UL 790 test covers the fire resistance performance of roof coverings exposed to simulated fire sources originating from outside a building on which the roof covering is installed. See below to learn more about the class ratings of roof coverings. Rated as Class A, B, or C as defined below:

Class A – Roof coverings are effective against severe fire test exposures. Under

fter the recent wildfires that have swept the country, Lucas Metal Works, Inc. and the company's brand of metal roofing panels, Lucas Metal Roofing, decided to look further into the fire resistance of metal panels. With friends, family members, and fellow Oklahomans in Lucas Metal Works' home state who lost their home, crops, livestock, pets, and unfortunately some their life. The company wanted to ensure that company was providing homeowners with a roofing material that helped fight the spread of wildfires. Unlike the asphalt shingle and wood shake roofing systems. The company took the next step to ensure their panels met and exceeded industry standards by passing the UL Roofing Standards test for both Fire and Impact.

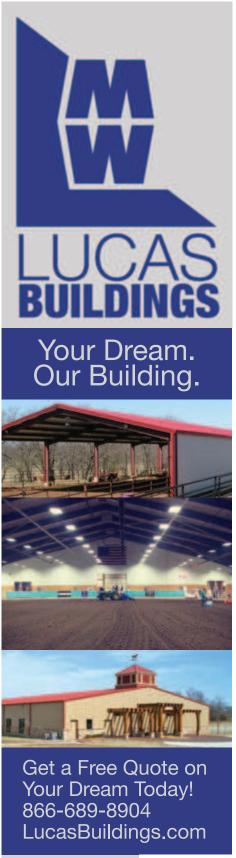

Lucas Metal Roofing's brand of fire resistant metal roofing is inherently non-combustible, making it a great choice for areas where there is a risk for wildfires. Most house fires in these areas are caused when hot embers, or flying brands, fall on the roof and ignite the roofing material. Burning branches, leaves, and other debris are carried by heated air and wind and can threaten houses a considerable distance from the actual fire. A fire resistant roof covering adds an enormous amount of fire protection to your building structure and has been proven to such fire exposures, roof coverings of this class afford a high degree of fire protection to the roof deck, do not slip from position, and are not expected to product flying brands.

Class B — Roof coverings are effective against moderate fire test exposures. Under such fire exposures, roof coverings of this class afford a moderate degree of fire protection to the roof deck, do not slip from position, and are not expected to product flying brands.

Class C – Roof coverings are effective against light fire test exposures. Under such fire exposures, roof coverings of this class afford a light degree of fire protection to the roof deck, do not slip from position, and are not expected to product flying brands.

Because of the proven benefits of fire resistant roofing materials such as metal, some towns have established building codes restricting the use of combustible roofing materials such as wood shakes and asphalt shingles. Remember to check local building codes prior to commencing your metal roofing project. Call a Lucas Metal Roofing Expert to learn more about the benefits of metal roofing panels and to get a material quote for your metal roofing project, 866-689-8904.

ADDED MONEY SWEETENS FINALS IACKPOT

by Kimber Solbera

hen you already host the best National Finals Rodeo for any youth organization across the country you may not expect much more. Well, the NLBRA works hard to make each National Finals Rodeo better than the last. Did we success in 2012? As it went down in the record books, we did.

In addition to the $260,000 guaranteed prize package, including $60,000 in College Scholarships, the Executive Board revamped the optional jackpot and voted to add a minimum of $250 added money to each event. Before anyone entered there was nearly $10,000 in the pot and the potential was almost $30,000. Then, the purse was bumped to an even greater amount when the PRCA chipped in another $2,000 to sweeten the jackpot in $500 Scholarship winner top right: CSU winner, Kellie Stockton - Images are cowboyimages.net each rough stock event by $500. Entering the jackpot was worth the time, money, effort and wait - a grand total paid out was $46,779.96. Additionally the PRCA expanded its sponsorship by adding $500 added money in each rough stock event. For those who were smart enough to enter and rode well during the week. there was huge potential that a big check would arrive in the mail. For example: Shane O'Connell of Rapid City, SD entered two events in the jackpot, bareback riding and bull riding, and in addition to winning two custom made Circle Y saddles, numerous round, average and world buckles (all custom made Circle Y Buckles) and $1,350 in NLBRA Scholarship Funds; he received a jackpot check for $1,161.66.

The big money winners in each division were: Little Wranglers Haiden Thompson of Nebraska and Austyn Peacock of Texas earned top jackpot money with $810.25 and $734.38, respectively. Top money earners in the junior divisions were

> Mississippi's Ryder Ladner with $711.97 and Colorado native Logan Kenline $597.93 in the boys division; and, Kaytlyn Miller of Utah with $930.41 and Longmont, Colorado cowgirl Maddy Dickens $712.28 in the junior girls division. senior boys division's top earner was Rapid City's Shane O'Connell with $1.161.66 followed by Goodwell, Oklahoma's Shade Etbauer with $728.32. Senior girls Darby Shope of Louisiana and Colorado's Amber Lefor both walked away with more than $1,000 each.

EXCELLENT EOUPMENT MAKES FOR GREAT GROUND

by Kimber Solberg

he ground conditions were optimal this year with a local crew of supporters making sure there was enough sand in the dirt mix if like in years past it decided to downpour. We didn't see a lick of rain and experienced perhaps the most weather favorable Finals ever. Temperatures begin in the low 100's but by rodeo time cooled to mid-90 and the evenings brought 65 degree nights which were enjoyed by all. The ground was consistently watered and worked with the tractors provided by Rusler Implement Kabota tractors paired with the Black Widow groomers. The black widows kept the dirt primed and provided excellent footing for all livestock and contestants in each arena. Thank you for your generosity to use such superb equipment and give our contestants the best possible ground.

If you'd also like to have the best arena equipment, the equipment used by the NLBRA, please contact Rusler Implement in Pueblo (719) 948-3338 and Rocky Ford (719) 254-7842 and Black Widow Groomers in Axtell, Utah (435) 201-0841.

ENCOURAGEMENT

hen I was starting out I would ask older ropers a lot of questions. Why did I rope a front leg? Why do I keep cutting the corner? Why can't I catch? For some reason I believed that one of them would have a secret or have a bit of wisdom that would revolutionize my roping. As you can imagine, there never was a secret. Every once in a while I would get a bit of useful information, but for the most part that was rare. I remember one time I asked a top roper in frustration, "Ugh, why do I keep missing?" He replied saying, "You can't throw a calf loop at the feet" and rode off. Still to this day I don't really understand how that was supposed to help. Maybe he just didn't think an eight year old would understand a complex answer, or just didn't have the time to chat with me. Either way this was the first time I began thinking that the older ropers had forgotten what it was like to start out. They had forgotten the frustration and couldn't connect with what was happening in my roping. At that time I told my day I would never be like that. I said if I ever got good enough to return the favor to a little kid, I would remember what it was like and help all I could.

Becoming narrow focused and forgetting about the past is easier than I thought. As I live and breathe my passion and pursue my goals with ambition and tenacity, I have found it is easy to get caught up in the future. It is easy to forget where you have been and where you currently are. That is one reason I began writing this column, "Love the Journey." I am always looking toward the destination. I knew I needed to focus on the journey more or I would one day wake up and have lost purpose. However, over this crazy summer two events stand out that am thankful for. They brought back memories, and reminded me about my past. What it was like starting and why I began this journey in the first place.

The first event was a practice session with a little buddy! He isn't very old, but I see a lot of myself in him. He wants to begin heeling two feet so badly I can see it in his eyes. After every run he would practically trot back over to me asking me what happened and how could he fix it. When I was in his shoes I was looking for complete and full answer. However, being on the other end I realized how pointless that would be. It is not that I forgot what I wanted at his age, it was just that is not what he needed. It would feel his mind with junk. He needed exactly what my dad gave me. ENCOURAGEMENT! Encouragement to stay after it and keeping throwing his rope.

The next thing that brought back great memories happened just last week. I had a free day after the slack at the pro rodeo in Yuma, Colorado and I somehow became the flagger for the county rodeo events later that day. I was flagging the pee wee barrels when a tiny, tiny contestant came in. He went around the first two barrels, made about eight circles in the corner of the arena trying to get his horse to pay attention, before finally heading home. To everyone it was the cutest thing ever but not to him. As I flagged him out for an incorrect pattern I was immediately reminded of being in his shoes. I remember how devastated I was at my first Colorado Junior Rodeo for going on the wrong side of the eyes! My parents thought it was so cute and told everyone the story. It was not funny to me though!

To accomplish great things in the rodeo world a person needs to have laser-like focus; a mindset that never lets him stray from the course. However, "remembering" is just as important. Remember what it felt like to be the kid the wanting help. Remember how much fun being a pee wee was. But most of all remember that when you encourage and help a little kid you will be in their memories forever as well. Take the time to make a more memorable journey!

FEATURE Miss Rodeo America by Mackenzie Carr

HELLO EVERYONE!

can't believe August has come and gone. It is crazy how fast time flies when you're having fun! My month of August was booked with small town rodeos full of big town spirit. I spent the majority of the month in the great Northwest close to home, hitting up the 2013 Miss Rodeo Oregon Pageant in conjunction with the Clackamas County Fair and Canby Rodeo in Canby, Oregon and the Kitsap County Fair and Rodeo in Bremerton, Washington. I kick started the month with the Wild Bill Hickok Rodeo in Abilene, Kansas and while on the way there, I encountered some interesting travel experiences. This inspired me to write about some of the insane and hilarious events that have taken place out on the rodeo road.

Since I already mentioned it, I'll start with Abilene. In general, this whole week was a hoot. It started off while I was boarding my flight. Apparently to a person who has never seen a hat can, they resemble instrument cases. I am normally asked if I'm keeping a cat in my hat can which is strange enough, but this time I was asked something new. The first person wanted to know if I was carrying cymbals and another asked if it was my French Horn case. I guess being a one man band needs to be added to the 2013 Miss Rodeo America requirements.

After I landed, I was whisked away to the television station for an interview with Abbey, Miss Rodeo Kansas State University. We sat down, clipped on our lapel microphones, and waited for the anchors to come over. As the news program started, pictures of the anchors were flashing on the TV screen. Abbey said, "I feel like I'm in the Will Ferrell movie Anchorman." So of course, we had no other option but to start reciting movie lines. I'll leave that to your imagination to come up with what was said. About ten minutes later. I realized that the whole time we were imitating Ron Burgundy, our mics were on and the guys in the sound room could hear us. Great! When it was our time to interview, the anchor came over and I asked if we needed to do a sound check. He said that they already got one. Oh I bet they did! Needless to say, Abbey and I had a HUGE laugh about it later.

Along with the many lifelong lessons and memorable experiences I have gained from this year, I have also learned a lot about myself. I have learned to completely swallow and maybe even possibly throw away any sense of self pride. I have, on numerous occasions, asked the concierge, housekeeping maid, and/or random stranger in the hotel hallway to zip up my leather dress. Trust me it would take an act of God for me to do it on my own. I am not embarrassed in any way to be pat down and have all of my hair searched in every single airport that I visit. What really gets TSA is when I start off by telling them, "Yes I know that you are going to use the backs of your hands in sensitive areas and no, I would not like to be taken to a private room."

Robert Frost said, "If we couldn't laugh we would all go insane." I have applied this quote not only to my year as Miss Rodeo America, but to my whole life as well. It's important to be able to find the humor in things, but more important to be able to laugh at yourself. To put it simply, I have had a blast thus far and cannot wait for what the next 3 ½ months have to offer.

Until next time,

Mackenzie Carr

Meet the Member Trey Jackson

by Rachel Hummel

rey Jackson is a 13 yr. old from Keenesburg, Colo. He lives there with his parents Justin and Bobbie Jackson, as well as his older brother Tanner, who is a member of the CSHSRA. "We are a very close family and do almost everything together. Not to mention we spend a lot of time together travelling to rodeos which makes us pretty tight."

Trey is heading into the 8th grade at Weld Central Junior High School, as well as his second year in the CJHSRA. He competes in chute dogging, tie-down roping, team roping (where he is the header), and dally ribbon roping. Trey has great expectations for this upcoming rodeo season and plans to be even more successful than he was last year. He qualified for the Junior High National Finals in both the tie-down roping and the chute dogging. He says that this is his greatest accomplishment in rodeo so far.

In addition to Junior High, Trey is also a member of the National Little Britches Rodeo Association and the Colorado Junior Rodeo Association. As you can imagine, he and his family spend quite a bit of time on the road. Not only that, but Trey says that he and his brother are outside practicing all of the time. With so many events and so many organizations, Trey says that his passion for rodeo takes a lot of dedication.

When he isn't at a rodeo, or busy practicing for one, Trey spends his time going hunting and spending time with his friends and family. He also greatly enjoys leatherwork. "The coolest thing I have ever made would probably be a wallet. I spent a lot of time on it and it came out really well. I'm still improving and hope to make something even better one day." Also, Trey is on his school's basketball team, adding yet more time dedicated to practice and travel to his schedule.

When it comes to the future, Trey has a fairly clear idea of what he would like for a career. "Ten years down the road I would like to be rodeoing professionally with the PRCA. My day job would be as a horse trainer. I just want to do something that involves rodeo and being around horses." However, Trey does admit that besides that, he does not have much figured out. "I'm thinking about going to Texas for school, but I don't know which one yet or what I would study. I have a lot of time though and things could change."

Trey's role models are his father and his grandfather. "They both try really hard to help me with everything and teach me a lot about riding and roping. Both of them competed in rodeo professionally, so they really know what they are talking about, and I definitely look up to them both." Trey also looks up to his mother. "She helps out a lot by pulling the chute and helping run steers in. She also takes care of the most important part, which is paying the entry fees."

In terms of rodeo, Trey says that his favorite aspect is all of the friends that he has made. "If I could say one thing, it would be that everyone should be able to experience rodeo at some point in their life. It is the greatest sport on earth, and everyone should know what it is like."

Meet the Member Taylor Duzik

by Rachel Hummel

Colorado State High

aylor Duzik, a 17 year old from Craig, Colorado is an outgoing, happy-go-lucky girl who enjoys a wide variety of interests and activities. One of the most prominent of those activities is rodeo. She loves going to rodeos and belongs to the NLBRA as well.

"I just like the family atmosphere. The people are always willing to help you with anything, and you always feel very welcome whenever you go to the rodeos." Taylor competes in barrels, poles, team roping, breakaway, and speed trail. The events that she enjoys the most are breakaway and team roping.

Besides being a very competitive rodeo contestant, Taylor also belongs to FFA, and 4-H. She is actually the president of her FFA chapter, which belongs to Moffat County High School, where she is currently a junior. In 4-H, Taylor enjoys showing pigs and competing with her horses. In fact, Taylor likes to spend most of her free time with her horses. "I just like to go for long rides. Basically, I enjoy doing anything that has to do with horses. I also really like to go hunting. I try to go as often as I can."

When Taylor does finally decide to go inside, she is welcomed by her family which includes her parents, Glenn and Paula Duzik, as well as her vounger sister. Mattie Jo, who is a former NLBRA Princess. Family is very important to Taylor. When she was asked to describe them, she responded with. "We are really close. We do almost anything together. My whole family is very supportive of my sister and me competing in rodeo, so it makes them even more special. Most of my family has been around rodeo for most of their lives as well, so it gives us something to bond over."

When it comes to impressive achievements, Taylor has her fair share of success. She is a straight-A student and a scholar athlete. She has also won a go-round of both the breakaway and the trail course at the 2010 Little Britches Finals. Her most prominent achievement this year is winning the first Sarah Fleming Memorial belt buckle award.

Taylor will be going into her senior year of high school, after which she would like to go on to college to either get a degree in Agricultural Education or in Veterinary Medicine. She is not quite sure of which college she would like to go to though, and is still trying to narrow down her options.

Something about Taylor that everyone might not know is that she is absolutely terrified of spiders and feet. She went on to say, "Scott Brennise is really the only one who takes advantage of my foot issue. He will sneak his nasty feet up to my head level when I'm not looking and I catch some toes in my face. Every time. And my sister is awful about teasing me with my spider problem. One time she chased me around our house with one until I locked myself in the bathroom and stood on the toilet seat screaming. Good times."

Taylor would like to send a big shout out to her parents and her sister Mattie Jo for helping her with everything. She would also like to thank her rodeo family in Craig for teaching her about life and rodeo and always supporting her.

Meet the Member Travis Nevius

by Terry Rhodes

Saddle Bronc title is Travis Nevius. He might be 'sitting' there, but he's not resting there. "I'm going to get to every rodeo I can before the Finals; I have five that I'm going to this weekend. I'm really enjoying it." Just to be sure those rides will have a great outcome, Travis refuses to eat chicken, wear yellow, or put his hat on the bed on rodeo day.

He has been in the CPRA for five years and holds a card in the PRCA. "I'll get to about 30 pro rodeos this year. We just had a baby girl so I'm staying closer to family and I'm taking my boy with me to rodeos. I really enjoy taking him with me to rodeos and he gets to compete in the mutton hustin." Posides him souther transfer.

bustin'." Besides his son, his regular traveling partner is Britt Jessop.

Travis started in rodeo competition when he was 12 years old. "I started riding bulls and did that through high school. My dad talked me into getting on broncs when

I was a sophomore. After high school, I had a full ride scholarship to college riding broncs and bulls. But I started getting hurt in the bull riding and decided to stay with broncs." He went to Frank Phillips College in Border, Texas where he studied farm & ranch management. Travis says that his father has been his biggest influence and is grateful that he convinced him to start riding broncs.

Preparation for making the ride includes visualizing the how it should go, then, "...take a deep breath and go." He does some intense conditioning using the P90 X program to keep himself in shape to compete.

The Colorado native was born in Lamar and now lives in Hartsel with his wife, Magie and their son Jarrett, 4, and the newest arrival, daughter, Jaycee, 3 months. Travis says that he has the full backing of Maggie in his rodeo and that makes his job easier knowing he can devote his full attention and effort to making the ride.

During the week, Travis is a rancher and works for his father-in-law where they run buffalo, cattle, and horses. Long-term goals are to keep rodoeing, ranching, and watch his kids grow up and take them to rodeos.

REFLECTION

bout a month ago I read someone's post on Facebook and this is what it said, "It does stand true when it is said, 'Rodeo will always be there' but the problem with that statement is the horse that can make it worth doing won't always be there. That in itself is the bigger truth about rodeo barrel racing."

My first reaction to this was to reflect back on my career. I've had some really great horses but I never had the opportunity to really rodeo for various reasons. I've always had other commitments. I began to wonder if I had missed out on "my chance." I thought a few days about this statement and even had some moments of regret.

I wondered if God had already provided me my opportunity and I missed it? I've always put everyone else before me. If my family needed me, I was there. I would do anything for them and I would change my plans at a moment's notice. It's just who I am and what I do.

Then I started reflecting on my life. I have two absolutely beautiful children who have kind spirits. Certainly I would have regretted not being home with them to experience their firsts. Yes, they could have gone with me but I don't really believe that life on the road is the same as life at home.

My children have spent countless, priceless hours with their grandparents. Brayden would pack up and spend a week at a time with my parents. He has memories that he will cherish for a lifetime. Now that we live near my parents, the time spent with Poppy is amazing. I think Poppy may get worn out occasionally, but those kids absolutely think he walks on water.

Which brought me to my next thought, my time with my mom is very limited. Certainly I would have regretted not being there for my mom to figure out how to get her cancer treated and where to go. Had I been on the road I wouldn't have been able to be the driving force for figuring things out. I suppose I would have immediately come home but I don't think I would have ever forgiven myself for not being at the appointment where they found out the bad news.

These things are not to say that the girls that travel up and down the road have regrets, or that they should. This surely is just my story. Everyone has their own life to live but where I started regretting, taught me a lesson. I have said many times that rodeo will always be there and you know what, it will. I may not have the horse to make it to the National Finals Rodeo or maybe I do, but I have so much more than that.

To date, I probably even rodeo too much. I'm gone every weekend and usually we get to three or four every weekend. My children don't get to go on as many vacations as they should. I ask too much of my dad on a regular basis and I know it. He is always there for me – feeding, letting the kids stay with him, picking something up from town for me. etc. I try to do all I can for him but truth told, I could never keep up.

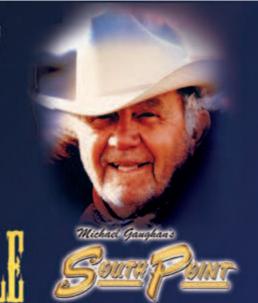

I enjoy rodeo for sure. In fact, that might not be a true statement. I would say that rodeo is my passion. I love barrel horses - no, I love horses in general. Watching a great saddle bronc horse is amazing. A calf horse working perfect is like no other. Horses are individuals just like us and I love them. I would say that probably no matter what direction life takes me, horses will have a strong part.

After a few weeks of pondering and reflection, I came to some relative conclusions. Life is about choices and I respect those that hit the road to follow their dreams. That is a huge risk and it takes a big commitment. They are living their dream and I give them a lot of credit for doing so. For me, I don't have regrets. I feel like I have rewards.

Rodeo will be there...there will be somewhere to run barrels...my children will only be small once...my mom's days of knowing who I am are limited... yep, rodeo will still be there.

Until next time...Ride tall He's always watching.

Meet the Member Garrett Grieve

by Lily Weinacht

arrett Grieve is a cowboy at heart. He is also the All Around Cowboy for the WHSRA, competing in team roping and tie down roping.

Garrett has been riding since he was three, going on horseback rides in the mountains with his dad. He participated in gymkhanas when he was five and six, and from there he competed in rodeos for the WJRA. He progressed up to junior high and high school rodeos and the hard work has paid off – he is the State Champion in team roping for the second consecutive year. Garrett likes both of his events for different reasons. He has been working on team roping as a header for many years and it is like second nature to him. But he is also partial to tie down roping. "You don't have to rely on a partner. If you mess up, you can only blame yourself." Garrett is also a member of his home state rodeo association, the WRA, as well as the NSRA.

The seventeen year old cowboy is a senior this year at Little Snake River Valley High School, which is located only three minutes from his home. Garrett has played basketball and football for school, but rodeo is still his main sport. When he's not swinging his rope, Garrett likes to get his hands on a fishing pole and go fishing, or spend time with his friends at the lake.

Garrett has two horses that he uses for competing. Minnie is his nine year old team roping horse, and Pepper is his eight year old calf horse. The Grieves

SEPT. 15 & 16 Jackson also have steers for Garrett to practice on, which in the summertime, he often does twice a day.

Recently, Garrett has been to rodeos in Nebraska and Colorado, but rodeo season is winding down for him now that school is starting. Garrett says that he may go to anywhere from ten to fifteen amateur rodeos in a year, on top of all of his high school rodeos. He also says that he doesn't mind the travelling. "It beats sitting at home and not doing much." His favorite part of competing at rodeos includes winning money, and getting to meet all kinds of new and good people.

As for his goals for the future, Garrett has some fine ones. After graduating, Garrett would like to earn his PRCA card, and he would be more than pleased to win Rookie of the Year. He would also love to make it to the NFR. In addition to that, Garrett is considering going to college, possibly in Arizona or Texas. However, Garrett's more immediate plan is to work for his dad's outfitting business, Snake River Outfitters, in order to earn money to rodeo next year. Working for his dad, he would do such things as packing out game that hunters have harvested, or doing chores around hunting camp.

Garrett's parents, Pat and Anita Grieve, are extremely supportive of him. His dad competes in team roping, and Garrett says, "I am motivated by my father to rodeo. He has pushed me to be the best I can be." Although Garrett's mom doesn't compete in rodeos, she is always there to help Garrett, making sure that everything is packed in the trailer and his clothes are ironed. Garrett says that his grandparents are also behind him in everything he does. On the subject of his rodeo family, Garrett would also like to thank Tom Mckee for hauling him to Oklahoma when his parents were not able to.

When asked what motivates him to rodeo, Garrett, the WHSRA's All Around Cowboy said, "I have a love for the sport. I hope to make a career out of it."

TORRINGTO YOUTH RODEO SERIES

Aug. 14, 2012 - Torrington, Wyo.

Torrington Youth Series 2012 crowns rodeo champions

he "Torrington Youth Series (TYS) 2012" rodeo crowned series champions July 31 at the Goshen Pavilion in Torrington. The finale rodeo was held during the Goshen County Fair.

Produced by Jake and Kerin Clark, of Torrington, the TYS rodeos offered area youth ages 5-14 the opportunity to compete in various rodeo events. Throughout the series the numbers saw as many as 72 contestants per rodeo.

In its third year, the TYS rodeos included eight weeknight events that began May 23 and concluded July 31. Buckles were awarded to series event champions in each age division. Prizes were given to the reserve champions and in the 5-7 age division the third place finishers received a prize. Contestants must have competed at six of the eight rodeos to qualify for the series awards.

"It is exciting to watch the young contestants grow each week in their rodeo events," Jake and Kerin Clark said. "The atmosphere is filled each week with a great spirit of sportsmanship and friendly competition."

"We appreciate the support of the local community, area businesses and rodeo families," the Clarks said. "The youth rodeo series is very rewarding to produce and we look forward to the 2013 series.'

Meet the Member Sheyenne Hammond

by Magie Downare-Nevius

heyenne Hammond is in her second year with the Nebraska Junior High School Rodeo Association and although was unable to qualify for Nationals says she had a pretty good season. Sheyenne is a three event cowgirl and competes in the pole bending, barrel racing and goat tying. With much debate, she says that she guesses that barrel racing is her favorite. She hauls two horses to each rodeo: her eight year old bay barrel and goat horse, who she calls "Ike" and her 15 year old paint pole horse, who she calls "Gunny". "I love to ride Ike. He was first ridden by my dad in the team roping, but then I got him and trained him in both of his events," said Sheyenne. Sheyenne hit the rodeo trail hard throughout the season and her parents were able to haul her to every sanctioned event except two fall rodeos. "I love that I get to ride my horses, hang out with my friends, run and compete with the NJHSRA," said Sheyenne.

While also competing in the Nebraska Junior Rodeo Association, Sheyenne's parents are those to give credit for starting her in the sport of rodeo as her mom, Kathy, runs barrels in the Women's Professional Rodeo Association and her dad, Justin, has slowed down in the steer wrestling but continues to play in the team roping. The Hammond house hold also consists of younger brother, Hayes, 8, who competes in the barrel racing and goat tying in the NJRA. The family rodeos and ranches outside of Valentine, NB., while Kathy and Justin each hold full-time jobs. Kathy is a jail administrator, while Justin is a banker. "I always went with my parents to rodeos and I suppose that I just always wanted to do it," said Sheyenne.

The 12 year old cowgirl will be entering into the seventh grade at Valentine Middle School and says that math is her favorite subject. "I love working with numbers and solving equations," she said. She is also active on her schools' volleyball and basketball teams and loves to hang out with her friends and ride her horses. Sheyenne says she doesn't know what she wants to be when she grows up. "It's too early to tell," she said.

As the fall approaches quickly, Sheyenne has already set the goal of qualifying for Gallup, NM., next year.

"I would love to in all of my events - that would be the coolest," she said. One of the things that Sheyenne holds very highly is the fact that she says both of her horses work well and have good manners. "They are both running at the speed that I want them at, it's just a matter of putting it all together," she concluded.

Meet the Member Iason Hubbard

by Terry Rhodes

ason Hubbard competes in the NSRA calf roping and is in the WRA and PRCA. He likes the SRA and says, "They are really a good bunch of people to be around and they're friendly. That makes it a lot of fun." Jason and his wife Andie live in Bosler, Wyo. but go to the NSRA events because Nebraska is Andie's home state and where she has been a member of NSRA. "Her family ranches near Harrison (Neb.) and she got me going to the NSRA rodeos. She breakaway ropes and we rope together in the WRA mixed team roping.'

Going to rodeos is a family occasion for Jason, Andie, and their 1-year-old son, Trey. "We took the table out of the living quarters trailer and put in a crib in its place and Trey goes everywhere with us. We have a lot of fun."

Jason picked up roping from his father, Monte Hubbard when he was young. "Dad was a roper and got us started. I started in Wyoming Junior Rodeo and rodeoed in high school. I went to the High School Finals three of the four years in calf roping, and won the State Finals twice. After high school, I went to college at Laramie and had a rodeo scholarship where I competed in calf roping, team roping, and broncs riding. I made the College Finals twice in calf roping." Jason credits his dad as the one that taught the most about roping. "He competed some, but as a rancher, he didn't have the time to really go hard."

Jason says that both his parents, Monte and Jo Ann where big supporters as he and his younger brother, Troy grew up into rodeo. "Troy is at Tarleton State University on a rodeo scholarship now and competes in calf roping and team roping."

Preparation for his run means getting mentally ready. "It's a mental game and if you don't have the right mindset, you can talk yourself out of winning before you even back in the corner. I try to take it > one run at a time, rope them around the neck, tie them down, and if I don't make too many mistakes, they'll write me a check." Just to be sure things go right, Jason adheres to the policy of, "Don't rope with money in your pocket."

> During the winter Jason is an ag teacher in Hanna, Wyo. "Its 55 miles from the house so I leave early in the morning and get home by 4:30 or five. We have a strong shop program and it's a small school; only 80 kids or so. There's a lot of good kids in there."

Goals for the future are to build his cowherd and get his young horses going strong and, "...then those circuit guys better look out. I've got a pretty good pen of young horses."

FEATURE Trailer Tips brought to you by Twister Trailer

his month's Trailering Tips, brought to you by Twister Trailer, will focus on what to look for when shopping for a used trailer, and next month we will share tips on how to maintain your trailer to get the most enjoyment, safety, and resale value out of your investment. Stewart Gulager, the Sales Manager for Twister Trailer, has been working in the trailer industry for over 7 years, and is a lifelong rancher and rodeo competitor, logging hundreds of thousands of miles hauling bucking bulls and horses, and he has owned numerous trailers over the years. With his work at Twister, he also evaluates many used trade-ins and trailers that come in for repair work.

TWISTER: Stewart, can you give us a few tips on what to look for in shopping for a used trailer?

STEWART GULAGER: Well, the overall condition of the trailer and first impressions will tell you a lot. If the trailer is dirty, banged up, scratched, etc. that will tell you a lot about how the owners took care of it. If they didn't clean out the back, they probably didn't take care of the mechanicals either.

TWISTER: Ok, after first impressions, what is the next thing you would check?

STEWART: The floor is very important. I would pull up the mats, check the floor for damage or wear, on aluminum floors for weak spots, pitting, or rust, and on a wood floor check for rot, cracks, or other signs of weakness. Overall, the welds, especially on an aluminum trailer, will tell you a lot about the strength left in the structure. If the owners didn't pull up the mats and clean underneath, or use enough shavings, the urine could have compromised the floor and the welds. Look at the condition of the mats, lining and walls to see if the trailer has been kicked or beat up.

TWISTER: What about rust?

STEWART: Well, with steel trailers, it is hard to keep them from rusting a little, but you can cut down on that by keeping the trailer clean. The door hinges and such will get a little rust, but it shouldn't be extreme. Once it gets there, it will only get worse to the point you have to cut it out. That's not good.

TWISTER: OK, so moving down the trailer, what comes next?

STEWART: Well, after the floor, which is just too important to go past, if the floor isn't good, just walk away. But if the floor is good, I would get down low and look at the frame, to make sure it is straight. On a bumper pull, check out the hitch area to see if that is bent or twisted. I would also make sure the jacks are operational and not bent. Hydraulic jacks can cost a bundle to replace or fix, and even on a little bumper pull, if the jack is bent it makes it really difficult to hitch up the trailer.

TWISTER: What about tires, wheels, axles? How do you evaluate those?

STEWART: Well, you can look at the fenders on the trailer. A lot of black marks inside the fenders, or crunched up fenders, missing fender lights, all that tells you they have had a lot of tire blow-outs. This could mean they have had problems with an axle or a wheel bearing. On the tires, you should look for uneven wear, like if the inside is more worn than the outside, or if one tire is worn more than the others, that could indicate a bearing problem. On tires, you can look for a manufacturing date. The tire will have a number on it like 2311 that will be that the tire was made in the 23rd week of 2011, for instance. Tires shouldn't be more than 5 years old, at the most, and if there is wear, they need to be replaced much more often than that. Or if there is dry rot, cracking or anything, that isn't a safe tire. Tires are easy to fix, but expensive, and should be taken into consideration on the cost of a trailer.

Wheel bearings should be checked and greased at least once per year; I like to check mine every few months, even if a trailer has been sitting.

Brakes are important too. The only way to really check brakes is to jack up the trailer and then hit the controller to see if they are all working. On electric brakes, one wheel can work while another is stuck. If the owner will allow it, try to hook up the trailer and take it on a little test drive to see how it travels and if the brakes and lights work with your tow rig.

TWISTER: Where do you see a lot of wear on a trailer?

STEWART: Well, I would just go over the trailer from bottom to top. The structure and the floor are the most important parts from a safety perspective. But after that, climb up on top and check out the edges of the roof, make sure the caulking isn't dried out. While you're up there, if it has an a/c unit or a hay rack, check to make sure it isn't banged up from running into things. A/C units are expensive to fix.

TWISTER: What about doors and windows?

STEWART: Yes, go around the trailer and make sure the doors and windows all open and close tightly and easily, that all the latches and locks are operational, make sure the owner has the keys to the locks! See if the screens are there. Check the tie rings to make sure they are still secure on the trailer.

TWISTER: How about living quarters trailers? Anything specific to watch out for in the human section of the trailer?

STEWART: Yes, definitely. You want to make sure that all the utilities are working, a/c, heat, stove burners, refrigerator. Also, check around ceiling vents or a/c unit and the windows and door for leaks, if someone has left a window open or the door doesn't shut tight, it will let water in which will rot inside the LQ wall. Also check that cabinet doors have secure closures, and that the floor is in good shape.

TWISTER: Anything else you see that could be a red flag?

STEWART: I would get under the trailer and look at the tanks, frame, etc. to see how banged up they are. A lot of times you have to park on a hill or go into a driveway at an angle and it drags the front of the trailer. You can easily bust up your tanks or pull out wiring, even dent the frame of the trailer. Some of that can get expensive to fix.

TWISTER: Thanks for your expertise, I am sure the readers will keep these tips in mind when shopping for a used trailer!

STEWART: Maintenance of a trailer is really important for re-sale, next time I will tell the Rodeo News readers how to keep their investment safe and get the most return when they decide to sell or trade in their trailer!

Meet the Member

Jessica Leach

by Terry Rhodes

essica Leach has been in the Mid-States association for the last six years and belongs to the NSRA and WPRA. She competes in barrel racing. She says that she enjoys the Mid-States association. "It's a great association and is wonderful to be involved with. Everyone you meet is great and they work hard to make the association the best it can be."

Rodeo and horses have been a part of Jessica's life from the very start. "I was on a horse before I could walk. My Mom was a barrel racer and my dad was a steer wrestler and later was a team roper, my brother was a bareback rider." When Jessica began learning the fine points of barrel racing, she says that her mom was her biggest help. "Because she was barrel racer and in the WPRA, and I got in that too. That was before there were restrictions on age and I was in the fourth grade when I got my card. I started with one of her horses that I just really 'clicked' with and started winning: we went to pro rodeos for many years together. We would help each other out with coaching, and anything else." Her success led to eight consecutive years that she qualified for the Badlands Circuit Finals. "I was blessed with an awesome horse at an early age and my mom taught me a lot."

During high school, she competed in the breakaway roping and went to the High School Finals. "It was a fun deal. I qualified for the breakaway and went to the first Finals in Gillette, Wyo." After high school, she went to college at the University of Nebraska on an athletic scholarship- high jumping. "I had a pretty big career in track and field. I made to the Olympic Trials in 2000. I did not qualify for the Olympic team, but it was a great experience." She graduated with a bachelor's degree in diversified agriculture.

Originally from North Dakota, she now lives in Rockville, Neb. Jessica and her husband, Marty have a son, Chas. The couple raises and trains barrel and rope horses. Marty is a farrier and focuses on racehorses. "He is a former jockey and knows horses. He's a huge factor in my barrel racing, I depend on him to help me by watching my run and telling me what's going on. He's phenomenal." Jessica says that her parents and good friend Rhonda Richardson have been a source of help and encouragement as well.

During the week Jessica is a self-described, "jack-ofmany-trades" working as a crop insurance agent, doing FFA work, and keeping books for a feedlot. Leisure time is spent hunting or fishing with Marty. Goals are to continue training and running barrel horses and see where it all takes her.

Meet the Member KC Curtis

by Terry Rhodes

ven though KC Curtis has the lead for the Rocky Mountain Pro Rodeo All Around Title, he de-■ scribes his progress as, "...plugging along. It really hasn't been as good as it should be." With the Finals drawing closer, KC knows it will be hard to stay atop the list. "I'm not going to be able to get to all the Rocky Mountain rodeos between now and Finals because I'm working pro rodeos too." He likes the RMPRA and has nothing but good to say about the association. "They are a great association to be part of. They try to help the cowboys out and schedule things so that you can get to two or three of their rodeos and still make circuit rodeos. The secretaries are great, Tammy McKee has been awesome." He competes in the team roping and calf roping.

KC grew up in a rodeo family with a father and grandfather roped so it was easy for him to get started in rodeo. "I did a lot of jackpots then, more than junior rodeo. I did rodeo in high school and then I went to Howard College in Big Spring Texas and got an associate's degree. I transferred to Tarleton to finish my degree." He earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Tarleton State University.

He says that his grandfather, Calvin Curtis has been a big source of help and horses during his rodeo career. "He has been a big influence to me and provided me with a lot of good horses. He raises Quarter Horses and I get the colts to ride and get started. Without him, I wouldn't have the horses I have today. My dad has been a great influence in teaching me to rope and sticking with me and teaching me as I progressed."

His preparation starts with lots of riding at home. "I have 10 to 15 head at home that I ride and train so that really keeps my riding ability where it needs to be. At the rodeo, I just clear my mind and let the muscle memory take over and go rope. You never get the same go twice so you need to be ready to react to the situation."

KC, 25, makes his home in Monroe, Utah where he was born and raised. He has three younger sisters, Jacee, Kelbi, and Kyra. His parents are Bruce and Raelee Curtis. During the week KC is training horses for either himself or outside clients. Much of the year KC is in Texas and has built a clientele that he shoes horses for. Long-term goals are to continue to improve his roping skills and make the NFR.

RODEO HISTORICAL SOCIETY ANNOUNCES 2012 RODEO HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES. >>>

by Catherine Page-Creppon, Director of PR & Museum Events

KLAHOMA CITY — The Rodeo Historical Society Board of Directors announces names for the annual induction into the Rodeo Hall of Fame held at the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum. Inductees will be honored at a ceremony during Rodeo Weekend, Sept. 21-22, 2012. Also honored will be recipients of the Tad Lucas and Ben Johnson Memorial Awards

"Induction into the Rodeo Hall of Fame is one of the top honors to be bestowed upon a rodeo cowboy or performer," said Pam Minick, president of the Rodeo Historical Society. "Chosen annually by a vote of the Society membership, the inductees in the class of 2012 include Pete Fredericks, Brad Gjermundson, Jim Houston and Sammy Thurman Brackenbury, Being honored posthumously are Emma "Pee Wee" Burge and Bill McMacken. James "Russ" Madison, Jr., will receive a Director's Choice Induction."

On Friday, Sept. 21, the Rodeo Historical Society (RHS) will hold a benefit auction during the Champions Dinner at 6:30 p.m. The program includes the presentation of the Ben Johnson and Tad Lucas Memorial Awards.

The 2012 recipient of the Ben Johnson Memorial Award is Bill Smith. The recipient must be living, involved in the sport of rodeo and someone who has given back to the community through service and/or worked with young people. Vicki Adams of California will be the 23rd recipient of the Tad Lucas Memorial Award. Dave Appleton will be honored for his achievement as the 1988 PRCA World Champion All-Around Cowboy.

The Hall of Fame Gala will be held on Saturday, Sept. 22, at 6 p.m. RHS members and rodeo enthusiasts join together to pay tribute as rodeo's greatest legends are inducted into the original Rodeo Hall of Fame. Plated dinner and a silent auction are a part of the program.

Presenting Sponsor for the 2012 Rodeo Weekend is The Norris Foundation. Major sponsors include Langston's Western Wear, and Tony Lama Boots. Reservations for the weekend can be made at www. nationalcowboymuseum.org or by calling (405) 478-2250, Ext. 219.

2012 INDUCTEES:

Livina

Pete Fredericks- A two-time National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association finalist, excelling in bareback and saddle bronc riding while at Dickinson State University. He finished second in the nation in saddle bronc riding and the all-around title chase in 1957. Fredericks was a Rodeo Cowboy Association and PRCA member from 1950 to 1973. He qualified for the National Finals Rodeo in 1961 in bareback riding and saddle bronc riding, finishing second in bareback riding and fourth in the world. Fredericks was a founding member of the Indian National Finals Rodeo Commission in 1976 and was inducted into the Indian National Finals Rodeo Hall of Fame in 2011.

Brad Gjermundson- While attending Dickinson State College (now Dickinson State University) he won the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association saddle brone riding championship in 1980. That same year, he burst on the professional scene by earning PRCA Rookie of the Year. In 1981, the North Dakota cowboy earned the first of his nine National Finals Rodeo qualifications and went on to win the saddle bronc riding world title that year. He followed with gold buckle wins in 1983, 1984 and 1985 and was reserve world champion in 1982 and 1988.

Jim Houston- One of the most dominant bareback riders of the 1960s, Houston enjoyed a stellar professional rodeo career from 1960-1971. An accomplished bareback rider, he also competed in steer wrestling. Most noteworthy, he is credited for changing bareback riding by developing the metal hand-hold for bareback riggings, which are still used today. He partnered with Neil Barstow to form the first successful rodeo equipment company of its kind.

Thurman Sammy Brackenbury-Accomplished great things while in the saddle and considered one of the greatest horsewomen of any generation. The California cowgirl was an 11-time qualifier for the National Finals

Rodeo and also worked as a top stuntwoman in Hollywood. She won the 1965 barrel racing world title, the same year she claimed the buckle at California Rodeo Salinas. She also competed in team roping and calf roping. She was one of the first women to conduct barrel racing clinics, helping young barrel racers improve their skills. She also served as president of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association in 1975.

Posthumously

Emma "Pee Wee" Burge- Burge made a large impact in the rodeo world in the 1930s and 1940s. She competed in West Coast rodeos in trick and fancy riding, relay racing, steer roping and bronc riding. She also competed in Harry Rowell's ranch rodeos. She was the cowgirl bronc riding champion in Ogden, Utah in 1942 and also won a men's steer roping contest in California. She was a member of the Cowboy's Turtle Association, the Rodeo Historical Society, the Old Timer's Reunion the Oakdale and Cowboy Museum. She died in 2011 at age 92. ••••••

Bill McMacken- McMacken was a fiveevent cowboy who dominated bronc riding and steer wrestling in Washington state in the 1930s and 1940s. He set the steer wrestling world record in 1935 and his arena record run of 9.8 seconds in Pendleton in 1941 stood for a decade. He died in 1967, in British Columbia and was posthumously inducted into the Ellensburg Hall of Fame in 1997.

2012 Directors' Choice Inductee

James "Russ" Madison, Jr. - A pioneer in promoting rodeo, Madison not only provided livestock, but much of the time he completely produced the events for 30 years. He began cowboying at age 12 and just three years later was breaking horses for the U.S. Army. He later toured with Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. Notably, he brought the Diamond S

Ranch to South Dakota. where the state's first rodeos took place. Additionally, he became recognized for this high quality bucking horses.

Meet the Member Shawn Hollenbeck

by Siri Stevens

hawn Hollenbeck is the National Director for the Kansas High School Rodeo Association. Shawn took Jerry White's position this year, moving up from his position as National Director for the Junior High Division. His responsibilities include making sure the National rules are followed. "If there's something going on, they come to me first." He will attend a mid-Winter meeting, this year it's in Fort Worth, where all the National Directors meet for a week. "We go over the new rule proposals and recap what happened last year. I love that part. The behind the scenes - how and why things happen is fascinating."

Shawn and his wife, Mardee, both competed in rodeo.

Mardee made the National Finals Rodeo in 1994 and Shawn was in the top 40 in tie down roping and made the Prairie Circuit Finals 10 times. They both set their rodeo careers aside once they had their daughters, Blair and Brandi. Blair (11) is going to rodeo this year, and has been concentrating on cheerleading. "Her cheerleading team won senior level three in All Star Cheerleading last year competing against more than 17,000 other cheerleaders from around the nation," said Shawn. Brandi (17) won Junior High Breakaway in 2010 and National High School Champion in 2011.

"We are hauling kids somewhere all the time," he said. Shawn is a crop adjuster for NAU Country Insurance. With the current drought, he is very busy. "Corn is in terrible shape right now - I would say 80% crop failure. Milo and soybeans are soon to follow." While the insurance will help the farmers, "it won't make up for what a good crop would have made the farmers."

Mardee is a Silpada Designs representative and she and Shawn were able to travel to the Virgin Islands as part of Mardee's incentive package with Silpada. "That's what I like to do – the more relaxing side of life."

Shawn is hoping to gain memberships in the western part of Kansas. "That's an untapped region," he said. "Rodeo has been great in Kansas for a long time. Our girls' team for the last several years has been extremely tough. We've had a National Champion for several years." Shawn is looking into ways to make the sport more affordable to more families. "In this sport, travel is required and it's hard to cut much of the cost."

In the end, Shawn believes there is nothing better than a rodeo family. "They are the best in the world. There's no other sport where one competitor will help another one like rodeo. Rodeo has enabled me to know people all over the country. We are passing that on to our kids. My dad still ropes in the senior pros."

Meet the Member

JD Draper

by Magie Downare-Nevius

Draper is a 13 year old cowboy from Oakley, KS. He is getting ready to enter into his eighth grade year at Oakley Middle School, where he s active in football, basketball, wrestling and track. "I'm excited for sports," he said of the upcoming school year. Like every aspiring young athlete, JD wants to pro rodeo when he grows up. He also holds plans of working with his dad and owning his own feed lot. "I just want to do anything with horses and cattle," he said.

He truly shows what an athlete he is by competing in five separate events within the Kansas Junior High School Rodeo Association. Heading into his second season with the organization, JD will chute dog, ribbon rope with running partner Carly Jones, team rope with heading partner Jess Koehn, goat tie and calf rope. "I really like how the KJHSRA prepares you for the high school level by allowing us to chute dog and tie-down rope," he said of why he likes the association. In his first season, he was unable to qualify for Nationals, but ended the state finals sitting fifth in the average in the calf roping. He is currently sitting in the top 20 in the team roping, fifth in the chute dogging, eighth in the calf roping and fifth in the goat tying. The only event that JD does not enter is the bull riding. "I ride steers at local rodeos, but I just don't have the desire to go on with it," he says.

JD has also been a member of the National Little Britches Rodeo Association for four years and recently returned home with a buckle in the second-round in the team roping by placing seventh, which was enough to advance him into the short-go. "I am pretty proud of that buckle. There are so many kids there, it is nice to walk away with a prize," he said.

JD started riding at about the age of five on his pony that he called "Stout". He now competes on two separate horses: Cowgirl, a 16 year old Palomino, who he got just before the NLBRA finals and Wilbur, a 13 year old paint, whom JD has had since he was eight years old. He > competes in the tie-down, ribbon roping and team roping on Cowgirl, while using Wilbur for goats.

> JD was born John Dale and has had plenty of inspiration and support to get him started as his dad, Chad, steer wrestled and team roped in the Nebraska State Rodeo Association and his step dad, Ted Howard, currently team ropes in the 40/40 in the Kansas Pro Rodeo Association. The women in his life also contribute to that leadership, as his mom, Darcy, was the Nebraska High School Rodeo queen, while his step mom, Kelly, runs barrels and breakaway ropes in the KPRA. JD's stepsister, Kelly, has participated on an equestrian team and was the Kolby, KS., rodeo queen. "My dad hauls me to all of my rodeos, but mom is always there to watch," he said of his large support system.

He will participate in his school sports to keep him fit for the spring rodeo season and has already set goals of qualifying for Gallup, NM., in at least three of his events. "I would love to make it in the chute dogging, calf roping and team roping. Rodeo is just a fun sport, it is something that I enjoy and have always wanted to do,"

Meet the Member Marsha Nelson

by Magie Downare-Nevius

s the 2011 Central Plains Rodeo Association year-end barrel racing champion, Marsha Nelson has stepped up during this season to defend her title, riding her horse of three years, Kool Driver ("Hans"). "He's my designated driver. If the pilot does what she's supposed to do, Hans works well," said Marsha of her eight-year-old. Hans came off of the track in Texas and Marsha says that it was like she was meant to have him.

Marsha not only competes in the barrel racing, but also in the team roping. "I think that roping is something the grandparents to two-year-old Hayden (Stacey's to keep my mind off of running barrels. I love to practice with my family and find it "My family keeps very relaxing," she said.

Marsha has been a member of the CePRA since it started and is also a member of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association and the American Quarter

Horse Association. She competes along side with her two daughters Nicki Harris and Stacey Hansen. "I've rodeoed since the day I was born, so I brought my daughters up in the same way," she lovingly said.

Her love of rodeo was pasted down from her father, Bob Craig, who competed as a calf roper, bull dogger and team roper. Her mother, on the other hand, worked as the back-bone of the operation. "Mom always made sure that we had something to eat, our clothes were starched and we were where we needed to be," she said. Her older siblings; Pam and Cathy (twins) and brother

Bobby helped to make the sport into a family thing. Marsha's husband, Mike, also used to rodeo and was a team roper in the CePRA and the AQHA. "Every time we're all together, it's figuring out who done what and where we're going next," Marsha said of her family. Mike now shoes horses and works as a rural mail carrier. "My family keeps me focused and is my good luck charm," said Marsha, but holds true to the superstitions of not wearing yellow, doesn't put her hat on the bed and doesn't allow video taping. With these, she says she has stuck by them all of her career.

The family will now pass their involvement in rodeo down to a fourth generation as Mike and Marsha are > daughter). "Grandma and Grandpa will just make sure that she has plenty of horses," said a proud Marsha.

> While some times unable to travel with family, Marsha will go down the road with close friends; Jess McMillion and Heidi Rouse. "I am very thankful for my family, friends; both past and present, and my animals; both past and present. Without my animals, I wouldn't have gotten to where I am today and without my family I definitely wouldn't be where I am today," said Marsha.

With the rodeo season well underway, Marsha just hopes to do the best she can and is thankful to have both feet on the ground. "I think that you have to be happy with what you're doing and I am," she said. Her recent inspiration has come from the loss of a dear friend, who was not only an all-around athlete, but taught Marsha many things.

Meet the Member Kelly New

by Terry Rhodes

elly New has been a KPRA member for four years and is in the PRCA and IPRA. He judges rodeos for KPRA and IPRA. "My competing days are done so I started judging about six years ago. I used to compete in barebacks, bull riding, and team roping." He likes the KPRA and says, "They are a great bunch of people to be around. With me coming up from Oklahoma to judge, they really make you feel welcome. Usually I'll get up there to judge three or four of the rodeos." His judging has to fit around a full time teaching schedule at Lawton High School. "I teach chemistry and physics, and I was the head basketball coach for the last seven years. It's an inner city school and doesn't have a rodeo team."

Kelly started to rodeo as a boy growing up in Oklahoma. "My dad rodeoed so I have always been around it. He didn't push us to rodeo, but there just came a time when I told him I wanted to rodeo and he said 'okay' and he helped me get started. I rodeoed in high school and then when I went to college at Cameron University, a couple of guys and I just took off on our own. The school didn't have a rodeo team." Later he transferred : check. There was another that bothered me; if there was to Oklahoma State and rodeoed there. "My major was agricultural education, but I had enough hours in science that I could teach physics and chemistry. Teaching those subjects allowed me more time to rodeo than teaching ag."

He says that during his competition days, he relied on his brother, Marty for encouragement and support.

"Marty didn't rodeo but he was always there and he'd tell me, 'You can ride him, you can do it.' No matter how I drew, he would back me up and tell me I could do it. It was that way when I started judging, too."

When he was competing he would spend some time visualizing the run and how he wanted it to go. He had a couple of superstitions that helped him through also. "If

I bucked off, I wouldn't wash my pants until I had won a funeral home sponsor on the chute, I didn't want that chute. That scared me to death."

Kelly, 44, lives in Sterling, Okla. and was raised in nearby Pumpkin Center. He and his wife, Jennifer have a five-year-old son, Carson. Leisure time is spent at home working his horses at his home arena roping or at the lake sitting around the campfire.

Kelly keeps his judging credentials current and takes seminars annually to improve. "I would like to get into the PRCA judging eventually. It's a tough job but it is enjoyable and I like it." He has a serious side when he describes he attitude about judging. "I want to be professional, to take care of business, treat people with respect, and do my job."

"They [KPRA] are a great bunch of people to be around. With me coming up from Oklahoma to judge, they really make you feel welcome."

Meet the GOLD CARD Member Wanda Cagliari

by Terry Rhodes

anda Cagliari first joined the National Senior Pro Rodeo Association in 1991. During her competition years, she was in the barrel racing, team roping, and ribbon race. For Wanda it was the camaraderie and friendships that she built over the years that kept her coming back. She won barrel racing championship titles ten consecutive years in the '90s. Besides the Senior Pro, she is a member of the WPRA, California Cowboy's Association, and Nevada Cowboy's Association.

Wanda and her twin sister Wilma (Hybarger) performed as trick riders for 15 years. She relates the story of their beginning, "We were about

"You have to be able to think in a split second and do things right and to have the horse working right."

20 years old and had watched some trick riders in Sacramento and we asked our parents if we could do that and they said, 'No way are you doing that.' So not long after, they left on a trip to New York and Wilma and I were home taking care of our dairy. We'd go down to Sacramento and get trick riding lessons from Ralph Corpe. When our folks got back, we showed them what we had learned and they said, 'Well, you might as well go ahead now.' "

It was after a 15-year career performing as trick riders, that Wanda began to get serious about rodeo and especially barrel racing. "I went to a clinic put on by Sammy Thurman, who was a friend of mine. I knew I was doing all the right things but I wasn't doing them in the right order and she straightened me out on that. After that, away I went."

She has business-like approach to competition and before a run; she doesn't talk to anyone and will put total focus on getting the run she wants. "You have to be able to think in a split second and do things right and to have the horse working right."

Wanda had all those elements working when she went to the NFR in 1980 and '81on a little bay mare. "Her name was 'What's the Use' and I called her 'Whatsit'. I could rope on her, work cattle, and barrel race. She was a super horse." Wanda had another great horse, Ima Top Moon that she ran in the Senior Pro circuit. "He won the barrel racing for ten years straight, was the All Around Champion for eight years, and was the Reserve All Around two years." When it comes bloodlines, Wanda looks for those combinations of running lines on one side and working horse on the other. "With that mix they will have better head on them with the quickness they need. They'll be quieter."

She now lives in Fallon, Nev. and she has a daughter, Cathy that lives in California and competes in the WPRA. Wanda is retired now but still competes in barrel racing. "I go to 4D jackpots and I won a saddle last weekend. Over my career I think I've won about 70 saddles." At 76, Wanda has no plans of slowing down, is in the process of getting a younger horse, and plans to continue to compete in barrel racing.

NSPRA MEMBERS,

I thought long and hard about nomination for a position on the Executive Board... unfortunately a little too long and missed the deadline for nominations.

After twelve years of membership I feel that it is time for me to give back to our association. My background in marketing and business would be an asset to the board and the membership. More to the point, I feel that we need to bring our old members back and new members into the association and I have the experience to move us in that direction.

If you write my name in for a position on the executive board I will do my best to increase membership and become a bridge to our former members. And ask your friends and fellow members to give this some thought and write my name in, as well.

Thank you for your consideration.

Claudia Conger 208-571-3819

NSPRA OFFICIAL BALLOT FOR THE 2013 BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Pursuant to the By-Laws of the National Senior Pro Rodeo Association, each member of the Association, in good standing, is entitled to vote for vacant positions on the Board of Directors of the Corporation. Listed below are nominees for Board Positions, as well as a space for write in candidates. Remember, only 2 people can serve on the Executive Board from each state, and several states already have at least one person on the board. Also, listed below, is a space for your vote for Rodeo of the Year.

Rick Bowden, OR

(An independent party will be hired to count the ballots along with the National Office Staff.) All ballots must be received by September 15th, 2012.

ath was never my strongest subject, in fact I barely made it through college because of the math I was required to take. One thing I have learned is that it's very important to add up the amount of money you have in your pocket prior to entering so you ensure you can pay your fees. It's also important so that when you tell Joe Blow you can rope with him and then you tell Harry you can rope with him too you don't have too many partners and too little money. Then you are either left to tell someone you can't rope with them because you can't count or try and find someone to loan you 20 or 40 bucks, and since we are all their to rope to our hearts desire all you'll probably find is some lose change or perhaps $10 for a cheeseburger and iced tea.

I try and only take a certain amount of cash to a roping so I can't enter anymore than I've planned to. For instance if the fees are $40 and I only want to spend $120 I know I can get in three times. This weekend I had more than $120 in my purse and I spent that plus a whole lot more, even though I had the intention of only spending $120. The other situation where this doesn't work is if they accept credit cards. This is trouble with a capital T! It's usually a 3% charge which in the scheme of things isn't that much at all. Not to mention out of sight out of mind, and there is the hope that you will win and it won't matter that you charged a few runs to your credit card because you'll just pay that right back when the statement comes in the mail. When those shiny belt buckles are staring at you, it's easy to hand over your credit card, they literally blind you with their temptation.

When it's all said and done, will you wake up Monday morning and feel regret? If that answer is yes, stick to your set budget and know ahead of time exactly how many times you will enter and make sure you don't say yes to too many partners. If the VISA and Mastercard sign is staring at you, look the other way and tell yourself you'd like to eat something rather than ramen noodles for three weeks once you get home, that is if you can even afford fuel in your pickup to get there!

| FEATURE | Let's Talk It Over by Dale Woodard

SHE WILL BE MISSE

udrey Woodard was born August 14, 1928. She passed away on August 4, ■2012. I am proud to say she was my mother. A memorial to her would simply say 1928 - 2012 but in that dash she lived a full life and she left this world a better place because of her presence on this earth. After Mom's passing I have had so many people come up to me and tell me how kind my mother was to them. How she treated them like family and how they treasure their memories of her. So many people say that Audrey was the hardest working woman they had ever seen.

She loved to work this is true but she knew the secret of working. We have all heard the saying that if you do what you love then you will never have to work a day in your life. That was Mom, she loved to cook, clean, and work in her yard. She also loved to have parties. It didn't matter if it was for birthdays, anniversaries, weddings, graduation or a celebration for someone winning something. Didn't matter what it was we were going to celebrate with a party. So what did she do? She owned and operated a catering business for over forty years. A customer once flew and one her of her helpers from California Vermont to cook for their daughters wedding. She people loved and she loved her work. Mom was full blooded Portuguese. Portuguese people are know as hard workers; Mom was a credit to her heritage. There are lots of Portuguese people in California that are involved in ranching and farming but most of them either started or are still in the dairy industry.

When I was younger Mom and I would go to the Portuguese celebrations. They are called "Festas" and they serve a beef stew that is called "Sopas". These celebrations are a way to keep the old Portuguese's traditions alive. They are held in honor of a Queen who was known as a peacemaker. She smuggled food to the poor people in Portugal. That is why to this day at the celebration the Sopas stew is free. Everyone is to get a good meal on this day rich or poor. After the meal the dancing starts. The people dance all of the modern dances but the traditional dance at the celebration is the > "Corridinho dance". Mom loved to go to celebrations because of that my nick name for her was "Portegee Joe". I tried to call her at least once a week when she answered I would say "Portegee Joe this is your son...she would say I know you!" Then we would visit about what was happening with us.

Mom diagnosed with lung cancer about two months before her passing. We talked on the phone and she asked me what I thought. I told her, "Mom you should make a bucket list of all the things that you ever wanted to do and do them." Her response was I would like to have a big party while I'm still feeling good and invite all of my friends...so that's what we did. It was like having a funeral while the honoree is still alive and can enjoy it. I have been to a lot of my mother's parties but this one was the best. Eighty eight people were able to make it, they were treated to a sit down dinner and we had a blast. She said another thing she wanted to do was take a train trip so she did. She rode the train from California to Colorado. We had two or three big dinners while she was here in Colorado and everyone got to say their goodbyes. Mom was getting visibly weaker but she insisted on riding the train back to California so my wife Karla went along as her caretaker and they made it back to her California home. Unfortunately Mom passed away one week later.

Mom knew about the plan of salvation and had prayed the sinners prayer. I believe she is in heaven. But if you are a person who doesn't believe in the spiritual aspect of life I have good news. If for you its our works that gets us to heaven then Mom is still in great shape. She worked so hard and did so much for so many people. She is good either way you want to look at it. It has taken me a little while to get enough self control to write this article about my mom but I think I'm ready now. I miss her and I wept when she passed away. I'm pretty good now but every once in awhile my emotions will sneak up on me. The comfort I find in my Mother's passing is that some day I will see her again and when I do I will say, "Hello Portegee Joe, this is your son... and she will say, "I know you." Today I stopped working mid morning to write this memorial, I'm sure Mom will understand as long as I get back after it when I am finished. With that... this is not goodbye it's just .....see you later Portegee Joe.

Thanks for the visit, Dale

IN NEED OF A LIFEGUARD

remember it like it was yesterday. I was in a lecture at A&M two years ago. I felt like there was a ton of bricks on my shoulders. My sins, worries, and troubles had me beat. I had an unusually vivid dream, vision, or mental movie whatever you want to call it. I was wading in the water with no land in sight. I felt a weight pulling at my feet as I slowly sunk until my chin was barely above the water. My eyes stayed open as my whole head went under. The sunlight on the surface started to become hazy and dark as I sunk deeper. It wasn't that I was sinking fast or even that I was running out of breath that scared me, it was the feeling that as I went down I wasn't coming back up. As the water became darker, my attention left the now dim surface and focused on the water around me as it turned into a cold gloomy afterlife that welcomed me with a heavy depression. Ghostly figures were floating around me like I was in a weird movie. I felt like I was on the out skirts of Hell.

Then somebody hit me with a spot light and it got a little brighter above me. When I looked up a man standing above the surface was looking at me, then He reached down into the water and offered His hand, All I had to do was take it. I latched on and our thumbs crossed as if an old friend was pulling me in for a hug. His strong arm yanked me up out of the water like a little kid when he springs out of the kiddy pool with a roar. I gasped for air as I flew up and landed next to a bearded man wearing a white robe and leather sandals. It didn't take but a half second to realize who just saved me from what seemed to be an eternal darkness that wasn't gonna let me go anytime soon. We stood together for a moment in silence before He gave me a half smile and soft nod, as if to say follow me. As we turned and walked across the water I saw in the distance a wooden boat waiting for us. We walked together to the boat and I followed His lead as we both climbed in. We sat for a moment and I watched as He gazed off into the distance at the horizon. When he looked back at me I finally broke the silence with a question, "Why do we need the boat?" He smiled and looked back at the horizon. I followed His eyes to see an amazing sunset that painted a picture that no post card would ever be able to capture. As I turned back to hear the answer to my question, my friend was gone and I was in the boat alone.

"So why would we rather be deducted for a heavy carcass weight, Mr. Hopping?" Animal science 605 brought me back to reality and my dream was over just about as quickly as it had started. It was as if Dr. Herring had asked me the vary question that I asked my friend in the dream, because the only answer I had was sometimes in life we have enough faith to walk on water and other times we have to have a boat. But even when we get too distracted by this world to even remember that we can call on Him, Jesus will rescue us every time. Even if it is from ourselves. Lord, save me.

He said, "Come." So Peter got out of the boat and walked on water and came to Jesus. (30) But when he saw the wind, he was afraid, and beginning to sink he cried out, "Lord, save me." (31) Jesus immediately reached out his hand and took hold of him, saying to him, "O you of little faith, why did you doubt?" Mathew 14:29-31 friend of mine recently told me about a 13-yearold kid at a jackpot. The kid was a #3 in early 2011, then was bumped up to a #4. Last month they decided he needed to be a #5. He has an excellent head horse and was winning here and there.

On the day the producer told him he had to rope as #5, he was marched into the entry office by his father, who proclaimed (in front of him) that his roping was absolutely awful and no way did he rope good enough to be a #5. The kid's face fell like a ton of bricks.

Now let's compare that to my own story. Tuf Cooper sat by me the other day on a plane. We visited for about an hour and I asked him what role his dad has played in his career. He told me Roy hadn't trained him all that much on the roping and tying; mostly in the mental game.

"I never run a practice calf without my dad in the arena," he said

And I asked if he was serious. "Yes!" he said. "Sometimes I'll have my piggin' string tucked in and I'll be riding around waiting 20 minutes for my dad to get there."

I even verified this story with Roy later, and it's true.

"I want him there because ever since I was a little bitty kid, he always has me thinking I'm ready to beat 'em every time," said Tuf, who still calls his dad every time they draw him a calf and every time he runs one at a rodeo.

Isn't that interesting? We can feed a kid's confidence and affirm his skills, or we can maybe try reliving our lives through our kids. One moment, we boast about our kid, and the next we gripe that he's over-numbered.

I knew from the start that my son Joel might get a little overnumbered as a kid. Here's what I told him: "We're designing you to be a #10, so don't hold anything back. We'll blow through this number system as fast as we possibly can."

Maybe your kid will be able to earn a hundred thousand dollars on his way through the system; maybe he'll only earn a thousand. Either way, I always told Joel that if he was unfairly numbered, we wouldn't let it slow us down.

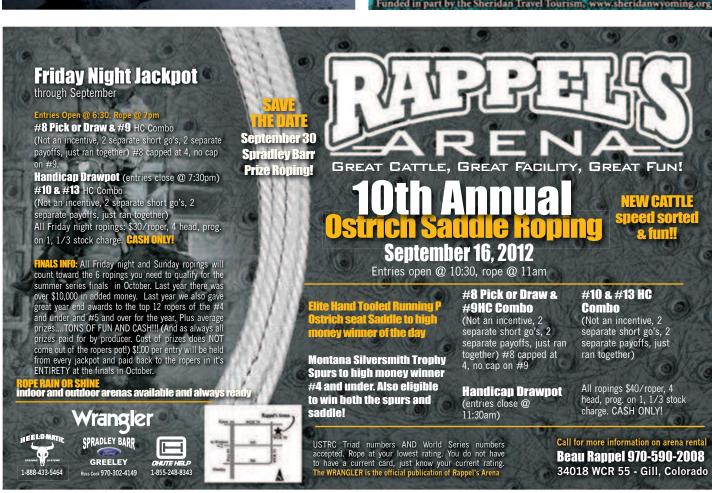

Let's face it. It's hard for a classification crew to keep up with these kids. These aren't old men or housewives - they're young athletes roping all the time who can jump two handicaps in six months. If I'm a producer, I almost have to keep them a little over-numbered so they don't sneak in and hurt my customers.

I know a producer needs to protect his business. And I know kids need confidence. Hopefully we can straddle that line by letting these kids win a little as amateurs without being too afraid of them. Why not encourage kids to become the best at everything they attempt?

FABRIZIO

Presented by

--by Teri Edwards ------

inning the Breakaway title at the 2012 Texas State High School Finals this year was a crowning achievement for an exceptional young cowgirl. Part of a very close family, seventeen year-old Rylea Fabrizio has been in the arena for as long as she can remember.

Rylea grew up competing in the Colorado Junior Association from the young age of four. She won her first saddle in the Breakaway when she was ten and has since won a total of fifteen saddles. One of her first big accomplishments was when she and her mother, Debbie, won the Spicer Gripp All Girl roping several years ago when she was just thirteen.

Currently a Junior in high school, Rylea competes in Breakaway, Team Roping, Barrels, and Goat Tying in high school rodeos. The family practices every day and during the summer they spend their time roping and competing at amateur rodeos.

The Fabrizio name is well known in the roping and rodeo arena. Tom and Debbie Fabrizio have raised their two daughters, Jordan and Rylea, well, in and out of the arena. The family enjoys their time together.

In addition to being an all round hand at the rodeos, Rylea maintains a GPA of 4.0. Consequently, she has been approached by a number of rodeo coaches but as of yet has not decided where she will attend college.

"She's such a great kid," says mom, Debbie. "She's always been very sensible and business like, without any drama."

Rylea is currently sponsored by Fast Back Ropes, Rock and Roll Cowgirl and Embrace Victory.

As much as you practice, how do you get your school work done?

Normally I try and work hard in school to get it done before I come home. Sometimes I'll take it with me when we travel.

What do you think has been instrumental in your success? I give my parents the credit for top: Rylea Fabrizio breakaway roping at the 2012 NHSFR in Rock Springs, Wyo.

letting me do what I do and supplying me with the best horses. I also thank my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Who has taught you the most?

My parents have absolutely taught me everything I know. I've been able to pick up small things from some of the pros that spend time at our house. But, my parents have taught me the most.

What's your favorite event?

I really enjoy both team roping and breakaway. Though I get to team rope more than I breakaway rope, I don't really have a favorite.

How much do you practice?

We rope every day and I tie goats about three times a week.

Do you make your own horses?

The three horses I ride now at the high school rodeos, we pretty much trained ourselves.

Who are your rodeo heroes?

Trevor Brazile and Joe Beaver .....

What's your favorite movie? Top Gun .....

Describe yourself in three

Motivated, faithful, respectful .....

What makes you happy?

Being with my family and getting to rope with them. To rodeo with the people I love.

What makes you angry?

I get frustrated with myself if I don't do well. Sometimes it makes me mad when I'm around kids that don't understand what I do, who think rodeo is stupid.

What do you like to do when you're not at a rodeo or roping?

I like hanging out with my family. My sister and I shop now and then. I enjoy playing basketball for the fun of it.

Do you have a boyfriend?

Where do you see yourself in ten years?

I see myself with a college degree and rodeoing full time. .....

What do you feel has been your biggest accomplishment?

Winning the Texas High School Breakaway Championship this summer.

Rylea Fabrizio is a great example of how hard work and dedication can pay off. With two years of high school left and then college, there's no telling how many titles this young lady will win.

IT'S ALL ABOUT POSITION

here are very few places or times where "position" is not a major factor. This is true on many levels, in everything from your position in life, your spiritual position, and in roping calves.

Today we're talking about roping position. I'll always take a guy that may not be as fast or have as much ability with good position over a guy that's blistering fast with bad position. Most of the mistakes made when roping are due to being out of position.

There are several common positions for throwing your rope when calf roping. As when driving, where a steering wheel has a 10:00 and 2:00, I'll use the same references for the position of the calf when roping. Most ropers will usually throw when the calf is in one of these positions: 1) 11:00, 2) 12:00, 3) 1:00.

Often this will be determined by a roper's size and strength. Personally, my preferred position is 11:00. For a younger or smaller roper, who may not be tall enough to see over their horses' head, they will be more comfortable with a 1:00 position. Many things can dictate your position, your left hand, your elbow, your wrist, or how you hold your rope.

If you're not sure of your optimum position, work at catching the dummy from 10:30 to 2:00 positions. Adjust your swing and the plane of your rope in order to catch it from all positions. From there, figure out which position best fits your style and swing, and gives you the highest percentage for catching.

Once you find the position that makes you most consistent, ride to that position every time. For your catching percentage to go up, you need to be in the same position every time.

All aspects of calf roping relate to position. Next month we'll talk about positioning yourself to get off and positioning yourself when tying.

Until next time, God Bless and I'll see you down the line.

Meet the Member Brenda White

by Magie Downare-Nevius

renda White has been a member of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association Alumni for the past couple of years and made her stance as the College National Breakaway Champion in 1996. "We had some tough competition in the breakaway and it was something that I really had to work at to get," said Brenda. Some of her fellow teammates consisted of Wendy Harvey-Soone, Deann Morgan-McName and Julie Mankins, all of which contributed to the University of Wyoming's women's team Reserve Champion title.

Brenda's first year at the College National Finals was her sophomore year, but she was unable to walk away with the title. She then returned her junior year but was taken out due to a loss of her finger tip in a team roping accident. Along with the breakaway, Brenda was also very competitive in the goat tying and team roping. "I was never quite as good as the other girls in the goat tying, but tried very hard to be competitive in the team roping. The boys always had big competition, so I was able to make the short-go, but never enough to win the title," she said.

Her role in rodeo started early in life at about the year of 1989, where she competed in youth rodeos. "We had some significant competition," she said. Her hand at the rope was pasted down from her father, Bill, who competed in the team roping at lots of jackpots. "With having us kids, he couldn't get subsidized funding to go too far from home," said Brenda. Mother, Judy, did not compete but always offered plenty of support to her four children. Brenda is the third of those four with the oldest of the group being twins. Wendy and Ellen both attended Eastern Wyoming College while competing in the barrel racing, while youngest brother, Scott, team roped for Casper College and Chadron State.

Brenda continues to rope today in the breakaway and mixed team roping in the South Dakota Rodeo Association and the Northwest Ranch Cowboys Association, where she is currently sitting in the top 12 in both events for both organizations. She has been a member of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association for three years now, where she competes in the breakaway and team roping, where she finished in the top 15 in the heading standings last year. "Breakaway is my favorite and I would love to finish strong in it, but there is some tough competition with Erin Johnson from Colorado and Tibia Smith from Texas," she said.

She has her eyes set on qualifying for each finals in each association, but says that her main goal is to be competitive and to the best of her abilities.

THE 2012 COLLEGE NATIONAL FINALS CHAMPIONS

welve contestants came out of the College National Finals Rodeo as the National Champions for 2012. Seems simple but it is not. They had to overcome some tremendous odds. There are over 100 member schools in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association and not all end up sending even one contestant to the Finals. Each year there are over 3000 student members of the NIRA. These contestants compete with one another at the school level for a chance to be on the team. Then they have to compete in their region. There are 11 regions, with eight to nineteen schools per region and each region has 10 rodeos.

So, first you have to get into college, keep those grades up to become eligible to compete, convince the coach that you will be an asset to his or her team, practice, practice, practice, study, study, maintain the health and well being of your horse and yourself, and maintain the readiness of your tack and equipment. Nothing to it!! Did I mention compete and excel in your region in

Maybe all that is why we are going to tell you again who those young people are, so you can be watching for them to show up in a rodeo near you or possibly the Wrangler National Finals in Las Vegas some day soon.

Meet the Member Shane Rickly

by Rayne Sherman

toutsville, Ohio, where 2011 MSRA bull riding champion Shane Rickly calls home. This year is Shane's third year as a member of the MSRA and he is currently leading the bull riding standings. In his second event, team roping, he is ranked fourth in the standings for both heading and heeling.

Shane's dad, Steve, competed in bareback riding, tie-down roping and team roping so Shane grew up around the sport. Steve started Shane out roping the dummy when he was four and he progressed to roping off a horse when he was seven. When he was in fifth grade Shane joined the National Little Britches Rodeo Association of Ohio and competed in breakaway roping, team roping, goat tying, steer dogging, and calf riding. After eighth grade, Shane joined the Ohio High School Rodeo Association and was a four year member. Shane's brother, Buddy, also competed in high school rodeo and still ropes occasionally. In high school, Shane competed in bareback riding, team roping and tie-down roping. He added bull riding his senior year because Steve wouldn't let him ride bulls before he was 18.

Over the years Shane has pared his competition resume down to bull riding and team roping. He has only been traveling to rodeos on a regular basis since 2009, but prior to that he competed at jackpots and USTRC events with his dad. Shane competes as a header and a heeler and says he enjoys both sides equally. Even with a heavier rodeo schedule, Shane still competes at ropings with his dad. Although he enjoys team roping, bull riding has afforded Shane more opportunities. He has competed at PBR Challenger Tour events, one PBR Built

Ford Tough event in New Orleans, World's Toughest Bulls and Broncs, and the newly formed Professional Roughstock Series. Shane was also crowned the IPRA's Bull Riding World Champion for 2011. "I got pretty lucky last year, everything fell together," stated Shane. Shane credits his dad, his traveling partners Bump Postlethwait and Davey Wright, and Allen Weilnau for helping him achieve the level of success he has. "My mom, Robin Yingling, isn't involved in rodeo, but she has always supported me," said Shane.

Shane and his wife, Raynelle, were married this past June and are expecting their first child in December. They met seven and a half years ago at a rodeo in Marietta, Ohio. Outside of rodeo, Shane shoes and trains horses and drives semi for Mason Dixon Intermodal which he enjoys because the flexible schedule allows him to rodeo. He also enjoys playing sports, but basketball and football are his favorites. Shane's future goals include qualifying for the IFR in the team roping and bull riding in the same year and winning the bull riding championship again.

Meet the Member Mari Lynn and Terry Taube .....

by Terry Rhodes

ari Lynn and Terry Taube have been in the CSRA since it began and Mari Lynn states, "I lose track of the years so I'm not sure how long it has been. I like the association because the rodeos are close and the people are friendly, you see the same people and get to know them. It's a smaller association and I like that." Besides the CSRA, Mari Lynn is in the IPRA and WPRA where she competes in the barrel racing.

She is a schoolteacher and that allows her hit rodeos just about every weekend during the summer.

"School started August 1st so that is affecting how many I can go to now. I get to rodeos when I can during the school year, but that takes more planning."

It was her husband, Terry that introduced her to rodeo competition. "He was a calf roper and after we were married, I would go to rodeos with him. I watched the girl's barrel racing and thought they were crazy. But, after a while, I got bored and decided to try it and now twenty-some-years later, here I am still running barrels. And he's still calf roping. It's a family thing."

She attended a clinic by Sharon Camarrillo years ago and says that was instrumental in her learning the sport. "That was a jump-start for me improving to where I was

"I like the association because the rodeos are close and the people are friendly, you see the same people and get to know them."

capable competing at a rodeo level." Competing does not come natural for Mari Lynn and she says she has to put some concerted effort into getting herself ready to run. "I'm not competitive by nature and as a schoolteacher, that isn't what I do in my daily life. I have to get myself a little 'mad' at myself to get the competitive juices going. I have to work at being aggressive in competition."

Mari Lynn and Terry make their home in Greens Fork, Ind. They have a grown daughter, Alissa that competes in rodeo also. Mari Lynn says, "She has done quite well in rodeo. Right now she has mostly young horses and is between horses for competition."

During the week, Mari Lynn teaches kindergarten through third grade to children with behavior disorders. The work is challenging and she says, "That's how I stay in shape. I like it, though, this is my 35th year teaching school."

Long-term goals are retire from her teaching and to spend more time working with her horses and training. "I think I have learned from teaching school, to be persistent. People say I have patience, but it's really persistence that works with teaching kids or training horses."

Meet the Member Melanie Bebee

by Ruth Nicolaus

t's been a long summer for Melanie Bebee. She's not been able to do her very favorite thing: ride

The Louisiana Junior High Rodeo Association member, who lives in Grant, La., broke her right thumb when she was kicked by a horse. She had surgery to put pins in it, and it was casted for nine weeks.

No horse riding, no swimming, not much of anything.

The 13 year old spent time putting together 30 puzzles, she estimates, anywhere from 500 to 750 pieces each.

But now that the cast is off, she can go back to competing in barrel racing and pole bending. She also plays basketball in school, but rodeo is her absolute favorite.

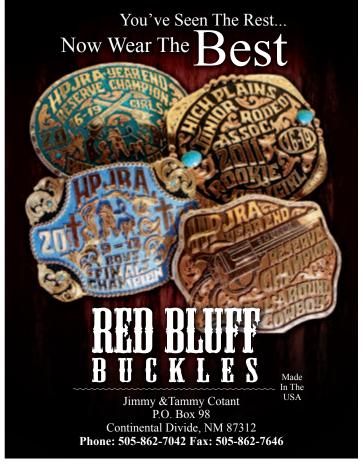

Her main horse is Biscuit, a nine year old mare that she uses for both events. The sorrel doesn't want to go into the pen very easily, but Melanie's dad, who is also her hero, walks her into the arena. She has a second horse, Rain, a five year old palomino, who was so named because she was born during a rainstorm.

Melanie will be a seventh grade student at Fairview High School in Grant this fall. She enjoys science class and learning about animals, and she loves to see her friends at school. When she grows up, she'd like to be a veterinarian.

Meet the Member Ethan Andrepont

When he, his mom, aunt, and cousin were on his cousin riding bulls, his mom bet

"Mom was always nervous"

his cousin riding bulls, his mom bet him five bucks he wouldn't get on a bull. He took the challenge, even though "I was terrified out of my mind," he said. But after getting on three bulls in the practice pen, "I ended up coming back."

That was a little over a year ago, and after his first year of competition in the Louisiana High School Rodeo Association, he loves it. But the first time, he was scared. "I had never been on a bull before, or even close to one, and I'd seen a lot of wrecks watching the PBR on TV." But he was determined. He got on bulls in the practice pen, twice a week, till school started.

Andrepont, who lives just south of DeRidder, La., attended one of Gary Leffew's bull riding schools in California last summer, and it was worth the trip. "It's paid off for me," he said.

He qualified for the state finals this year, and also competes in the Little Britches Rodeo Association, where he qualified for the National Little Britches Finals Rodeo this summer.

This fall he will be a junior at South Beauregard High School in Longville. The best part of school is athletics. Ethan played tight end last year but will move to right tackle on defense this fall. He's a big fan of LSU, and his favorite player is Trindon Holliday, who played college ball at LSU and now plays in the NFL.

He also enjoyed geometry class last year, mostly because "I was lucky enough to get a fun teacher that made it fun and easy to learn. Miss Melissa Hungerford wasn't just teaching; she actually made it worth being in class."

In addition to bull riding, Ethan added bareback riding to his repertoire at the end of the rodeo season this spring.

After high school, he plans on attending McNeese State University in Lake Charles, La., and competing at the collegiate level. Someday he'd like to compete in the PBR, raise bucking bulls, and be a large animal vet.

Ethan has two older brothers, Dalton, who is 26, and Derek, who is 25. Neither of them competed in high school rodeo.

And Ethan never lets his mom forget that she's the one who got him started riding bulls. "Mom was always nervous when I went to ride. Dad talked her into letting me ride in high school and Little Britches, and I kept begging and begging."

"It's her own fault," Ethan said. "Every now and then, just to bug her,

I bring that up, and she says, 'oh, hush."

Ethan is the son of David and Lora Andrepont.

BOARD NEWS

The next ACA Board Meeting will be in Searcy on September 4, 2012 at 7pm. The meeting will be at Western Sizzlin 3210 East Race Street.

Final point cut off date is September 15, 2012.

Meet the Member Cody Whitten

by Magie Downare-Nevius

lthough still in the ripe stages of his bareback riding career, Cody Whitten is currently working in his first year as the director for the Arkansas Cowboys Association. "It was something that I really wanted to do. I like to be involved and help people," he said. Cody's duties include sitting in on meetings, helping with rodeo approval and gathering sponsors for added money at the finals in his event. "It's just something that I keep working at. With rodeo, you'll run into some obstacles that are easy overcome while others are harder," he included.

The 31 year old cowboy is carrying on a little of his family tradition as his Uncle Carl "Punkin" Whitten rode bareback horses in the 70s with the ACA, but Cody has been riding bucking horses for approximately five years. He is also very competitive in team roping and steer wrestling, where he is currently sitting in the top 12 in the standings. "Like most of my competitors, I don't get to go as often as I'd like to, but taking care of my family is something that I hold above everything else," he said. He has been a team roper the longest and also competes in the United States Team Roping Championships with his heeling partner and grandfather-in-law, Morris Hall. "Morris actually taught me how to rope. He is definitely the definition of cowboy," said Cody of his 78 year old partner. Cody devotes his time to several different aspects of rodeo, some of which includes; working as a pick-up man for Cline Hall of Hall Rodeo Company every week and has done a little judging as well.

Cody's introduction to rodeo did not come until later in life. He grew up in Little Rock, AK., and although spent a little time on his grandparent's farm, was raised in an urban setting. "I was pretty much a city boy," he laughed. He then married into the large rodeo family of the Halls. "My wife has been around rodeo her entire life," he said. This large group of family also works as Cody's traveling partners. "It's pretty much a family reunion at each one," he said.

He and his wife, Amy, who works as a rodeo secretary, have just celebrated their 11th year together. The couple are parents to 15-month-old, Carlee. "She is very rambunctious and loves to ride horses. We take her everywhere with us," he said and also included that Carlee's first rodeo appearance was when she was six days old. The Whitten family now reside in Agnis, AK., where they own a 100 acre farm with horses and cattle. "We have plenty of horses to ride and keep me busy," said Cody.

While being at home during the rodeo season is something that the Whitten family doesn't often see because of their involvement in so many different aspects of the sport, Cody says that he is excited for a little break when the season ends. Until then, he hopes to do well at the finals and would love to sneak in for the win someday. "The adrenaline rush that you get from rodeo is something that is incomparable to anything else. I also enjoy meeting so many new people and sticking with the friends that I already have," he said.

- Deadline to purchase a card for 2012 finals is September 1, 2012. Any cards purchased after September 1, 2012 will be for the 2013 finals. You may compete in the remainder of the 2012 rodeos without paying a non-member fee, but points will not accumulate for this season.
- Finals point cut off date is September 15, 2012. Members in the top 15 are eligible to compete in the 2012 ACA Finals if they have competed in 8 rodeos after purchasing their cards. Finals fees are due in the ACA office by 5pm on September 16, 2012. If you are mailing, please do so now so they will be in the ACA office mailbox by September 15, 2012. No late entries will be accepted.
- If you think you will be in the top 15, send your fees in. The checks will not be deposited until after the finals meeting. If you did not make the top 15, your check will be returned to you.
- Anyone interested in the finals secretary or finals timer positions must notify the ACA office before September 3, 2012. They will be voted on at the next board meeting. You must have worked 8 rodeos after purchasing your
- Anyone interested in finals pick-up man or bull fighter positions, must notify the ACA office by September 10, 2012. You must have worked 8 rodeos after purchasing your card.
- Finals producers must produce 8 rodeos in 4 different locations. Your stock must have been offered 4 times and bucked 3 times under the producers name that rodeo was sanctioned under. Stock list must be sent to the ACA office by September 10, 2012, so the outs can be verified.
- Stall and Hookup information is on the Finals Application.
- Any further questions, please e-mail acarodeo@sbcglobal,net or call/text 501-412-5473. If you call please leave your call back number.

TeamAgin.com clenches Second CFD Victory

By Darci Robertson

long drive, a long rodeo, a long race, and a long wait... TeamAgin.com's patience and perseverance paid off this July as they were once again invited to step up onto the championship podium to accept their second Chevenne Frontier Days title.

When driving through the contestant gate as you enter historic Frontier Park, it's doubtful that any cowboy or cowgirl really knows what to expect from the "Daddy of 'em All." Cheyenne is a tough rodeo, posing both a mental and physical challenge to the hundreds of competitors who brave her arena and track. This year, the Xtreme Bronc Riding Association's contestants held their own against the competition; four XBR teams qualified for the short-go and TeamAgin.com, currently ranked #1 in the XBR National Standings, came home with the coveted Cheyenne Frontier Days championship buckles.

The famed CFD title has eluded many top ProRodeo competitors; any rodeo contestant would be thrilled to win Cheyenne just once in their lifetime... but once was not enough for these California cowboys. TeamAgin won the title back in 2000 and have attempted to duplicate that win for over 10 years. After two great qualifying runs, TeamAgin. com rider, DJ Stoneburner, was the first cowboy to round turn-four and head for the finish line on the final go. After entering the finals seated in second place, winning the short-go was more than enough to once again secure TeamAgin's place in Cheyenne history.

Meet the Member Rowdy Rice

by Magie Downare-Nevius

owdy Rice is only in his second year with the Southern Rodeo Association and has already made a name for himself in the bull riding. His rookie year found the young athlete as the yearend Reserve Champion and he has come back to take the title in the 2012 season. The 19-year-old cowboy is currently leading the standings with over $7,000 won and approximately a $3,000 lead over his closest competitor. With the Southern Finals Rodeo not being held until Nov. 16-18, Rowdy hopes to ride as good as he can to stay in the lead. "I would love to win the year-end and the finals, but my main goal is to just keep riding good," and competes in the barrel racing. "I've been around it my whole life," he said. At the age of 13, he got on his first bull and says that ever since that first one, he knew what he wanted to do. He later went on to compete in the South Carolina High School Rodeo Association, where he was the state champion both his junior and senior year. His dad, Rusty, was not a rodeo competitor, but hauled Rowdy to all of his rodeos growing up. "He was always my biggest help," he said of his dad. At the ripe age of 18, Rowdy joined the International Professional Rodeo Association, where he qualified for the finals his rookie year and ended up sitting 13th overall. "It was the best experience that I've had so far," he said. He is currently sitting second in the standings with $8,878 as of Aug. 9. Rowdy is also a member of the American Bull Rider Tour and hopes to join the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association next season. "My biggest dream is to make the NFR," he said. He would also like to attend college and compete in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association. "I think that some place out west, like Texas would be neat to go to," he said of colleges to look at.

He was born Dalton Rowdy Rice, but has been called Rowdy his whole life, starting with his dad. "My parents must of known that I would be a bull rider," he joked of how he got his middle name. He is the eldest of three boys. His two younger brothers; Grissin, 14, and Bailey, 8, like to ride horses, but don't compete within the rodeo world.

Rowdy currently lives in Easley, S.C., and works in the landscaping business for his cousin's father-in-law. "It started out as a summer job, but I quickly learned > that it's a good job for me because of the learning experiences that I've had and I just love to be outside," he said.

> On the trail, Rowdy travels with Jay Miller and Levi Whitlock, who he's known and has been close friends with since about the age of five. The two are both bull riders and Jay is currently sitting ninth in the IPRA standings. "We all have the best time going together," he said of traveling with his buddies. In his spare time, Rowdy loves fishing and going to the lake, but says that riding bulls is his favorite hobby.

Meet the Member Brian Leddy

by Dakota Missildine

hoose a job you love and you will never have to work a day in your life." - Confucius Brian Leddy is a cowboy who has chosen to do just that. He is a rancher and competes in the bareback riding.

Growing up on his family's ranch in Roll, Oklahoma, he learned about responsibility and a strong work ethic early on. "We run Black Angus cattle. Our ranch has been in the family since 1898," he shared. Brian's parents Gary & Mariene Leddy along with his older sister Marlisa Leddy Garrett and brother Jason Leddy all help with the ranching operation.

Brian decided to take his passion for ranching and love for rodeo one step further by earning degrees that can attribute to both. With degrees in Farm & Ranch Management from Vernon Jr. College and Equine Science from Oklahoma Panhandle State, he is a major asset at the ranch and on the rodeo trail.

"My favorite part of rodeo is being on the road and horses for 15 years, and he got his rodeo start by competing at junior rodeos in saddle bronc and bareback riding. He joined the IPRA in 2010 through encouragement from his friends. "The finals being close to home" made competing at the IFR a good fit for him. Brian finished 7th in the Bareback Riding in 2011 IPRA World Standings. He has fond memories from traveling and competing at St. Tite, Canada and IFR 42. Traveling with hauling partners Mark Maynard of Shawnee, OK and Tanner Nolan from Big Cabin, OK keeps the road trips eventful.

'Mark takes special hair care products on the road and we never let him drive in the city because of all the "almost" wrecks in the past," added Brian. Texas Road House or Applebee's are Brian's top picks for eating while traveling. And when it comes to superstitions, he doesn't mess around with chicken. "I never eat chicken the day of the rodeo."

Brian is a card holder of multiple associations including the IPRA, PRCA and the Canadian Pro Rodeo Association. He would like to thank Trail Creek Land and Cattle Company of Roll, Oklahoma for their sponsorship and support.

Over the years, Brian has been open minded and believes that has added to his success in the arena and on the ranch. "Always be willing to ask questions, listen and learn from your mistakes, because you can learn something." Two of his role models are DV Fennell and Steven Anding. He said of them, " They are two of the greatest guys you'll ever meet. Great bareback riders and great rodeo careers."

In his spare time, Brian enjoys hunting, fishing and spending time with family and friends.

His future plans include to keep running cattle and horses. "I love the variety of different daily jobs that come with working on a ranch. From gathering or sorting cattle to fencing. Keeps each day interesting."

MISS RODEO USA -CLINIC HUGE SUCCESS

by Trisha Smeenk

ll the corners of the United States were represented during the 10th annual Miss Rodeo USA Clinic. Participants and observers flew from all over the country to attend the event. They hailed from Washington state to Pensilvania, Georgia and all the states in between. The extensive three day clinic covered every aspect of competition in a rodeo queen pageant.

At 6:00a.m. the breakfast room at the Comfort Inn in Paul's Valley, OK was full of excited participants. Lauren Harrington from Fairview, P.A. was one of them. She recently won the title of Western Pennsylvania Quarter Horse Association Oueen. She traveled by herself to attend the clinic. Most of the time a 20 year old traveling alone would not be a big deal, but this was Harrington's first time to ever ride in an airplane.

"It wasn't scary at all. I am here to make myself better and learn how to be a rodeo queen," said Harrington of her plane ride in. She had two layovers and spent most of the day traveling.

After introductions and a short briefing about they day, the group set out for a road trip to the Southern Cross Cutting Horse arena. John and Kristina Garland were gracious enough to not only let us use their facility and 12 of their horses, they also helped with horsemanship instruction. The entire day was spent outside learning horsemanship skills from the ground up. Close to 40 people filled the barn later that day to hear from a veterinarian and farrier.

They each gave a lesson on the basics in their field that lasted for over an hour each.

As if everyone was not overloaded with information already, the group headed in to town for more instruction after supper that lasted well into the night. The next day was a classroom day. Everyone was appreciative to be in the air conditioning and out of the Oklahoma heat. They day was jam-packed with instruction from modeling to public speaking to how to fix queen hair. Six Miss Rodeo USA's were in attendance to lend a hand and help with the event. Dakota Missildine has been to the last four Miss Rodeo USA Clinics.

"I've watched this clinic grow in attendance and quality every year. It's rare to have so much experience in one clinic with all the previous Miss Rodeo USA's in one location. I look forward to the growth from year to year and being able to give back to something that has changed my life," said Missildine.

> Mock interviews were held on the last day. Every participant went home with not only gift bags, but a cd of pictures and a dvd of their entire individual experience. After it was all over and the dust had settled on that last day, comments came back positive. Participants said their favorite parts ranged from horsemanship to modeling and even getting hair fixed was the highlight. The experience was not only rodeo queen related for some. One participant flew for her first time and others got positive feedback to build up their confidence that will serve them in every aspect of their lives. All had come together in Paul's Valley, O.K. to learn rodeo queen skills and each young woman left with a positive experience and personal growth. It was an honor for me to be in the presence of such go getters who were out to make themselves more well rounded individuals! Happy Trails - Trisha Smeenk, Miss Rodeo USA 2012.

WHITE'S STRATEGY IS TO JUST KEEP IT SIMPLE

by Tammie Hiatt

arie White of Richfield, WI has a refreshing approach to her life and her rodeo career....keep it simple. Carie and husband Wade, an IPRA World Champion Tie-Down Roper, own two horses, her barrel horse and his roping horse. No practice horses, no back-up horses, no string of young horses in the training stages.

In this day and time of high-tech rodeo, this is a rare thing for two people and two horses to make their presence known in any association, nonetheless in the IPRA. For the last three years Wade, a veteran IFR contender, and Carie have both qualified for the International Finals Rodeo. They both say that traveling together is their favorite part of rodeo.

The couple has access to a huge run of rodeos in July and August in the Northeast and they take full advantage of the one-performance many fair rodeos. "We have a pretty good stretch of rodeos close to us," said "We don't go Carie a lot in the winter, we really concentrate on the summer rodeos and then work the rest of the year."

Carie, currently sitting in the number two seat in the IPRA world standings, is no stranger to this scenario. She came into her first IFR in the number two seat and had high hopes of claiming her own gold buckle, but left Oklahoma City very discouraged. "I just couldn't stop the clock at my first IFR. I was so disappointed," recalled White. "I can laugh and joke about it now. It's too bad the IFR isn't a 3D," she laughs.

"At my second IFR, I thought maybe it would go better, but it didn't and last year, I was in the number two seat again and I just expected it to not go well," Carie explains. "I'm racking my brain this year. I just don't know what it is, but three years in a row and we can't stop the clock. It's just crazy."

"Kate has been running great this year, she's really stepped up. She's always good in the small pens but this year she's been running good in the bigger pens as well. I can't complain.

She's been really sound. I have a great vet that knows how to keep her consistent. A couple of years ago she got really sore and fell apart on me. Now he knows what she needs."

Ninnekah Kate is a 13 year-old, 14.3-hand mare that has been partnered with White for the past four years. 5-time IPRA World Champion Barrel Racer Betty Roper of Oktaha, OK raised Kate. "Kate is out of Ninnekah Bugs and Betty's good mare, Rocks Lotta Bert. Betty started her and took her to the futurities. She's been running barrels about 9 years now and still loves her job," said White.

"I've ridden her four years now and we are very comfortable with each other. I know her so well and don't even have to think about it when we run; it's just automatic for us. Wade warms her up for me at the rodeos and tunes on her if she needs it and I just get on and run her. I am not a trainer and don't claim to be, that is definitely not my specialty," she states. "We'd like to have a colt out of her and I told Wade that he'd have to train me a baby just like her."

"I really don't have a clue as far as a strategy for the IFR this year," said Carie. "We were just talking about this the other day. The ideal situation would be to be number one in the standings with a big enough lead no one could catch you, but that's not the case so I guess we will just have to see what happens. It seems like if you are chasing it too hard, it just seems to fall apart. It's fun the way we do it, no real expectations, just go and see what happens."

"I thought about getting something else to ride at the finals but I think that would just be too stressful for me, I don't think I would feel comfortable on another horse. I've always laid Kate off in the winter, but this year I think I am going to keep running her and see if that helps at the IFR. I may try to come to Oklahoma City to the BFA World Championship in December so I can run her in the same arena and see how she does."

Wade and Carie not only enjoy traveling together, they also work together in their own web-based business, Safari Girl Designs. Their website features their own designs on tack, dog collars, belts and shoes. If you wonder about the connection between the business name and the rodeo couple, it may be, in part, because of their two traveling companions, Genesis and Lil Wayne, the White's two pet monkeys.

"They go everywhere with us," said Carie. "Genesis is 12 years old, he has diabetes and has to have insulin twice a day. He weighs about 22 lbs. and has a life expectancy of around 30 years. The smaller one, Lil Wayne, weighs 12 lbs. and is 4 years old and can live to be 45. They travel with us; they have crates in the living quarters of our horse trailer. The little one can escape from his crate and let the bigger one out, we've come home to find our house redecorated more than once," she laughs. "The bigger one is food focused and the little one likes electronics and likes to take the keys off the computer keyboard. It's always exciting."

(REQUIRED FOR ALL APPLICANTS UNDER 18 YEARS OF AGE - MUST BE SIGNED AND NOTARIZED)
We, the undersigned, hereby request that the below named minor (minor) be granted permission (1) to enter the restricted area, (2) to participate as a contestant, assistant, official, or otherwise in rodeo events, (3) to compete for money, prizes, recognition or reward, (4) to be coveted by participants' hospitalization insurance, if applicable, as limited by the master policy (all collectively hereinafter called "permissive entry").  In consideration of "permissive entry" to minor into the restricted area, which is the area from which admission to the general public is restricted, which includes, but is not limited to the rodeo arena, competition area, chutes, pens, adjacent walkways, concessions, and other appurtenances, we, the undersigned, on behalf of the minor and for ourselves, our personal representatives, heirs, next of kin, spouses and assigns, do hereby:  1. RELEASE, DISCHARGE AND COVENANT NOT TO SUE the rodeo committee, stock contractor, rodeo association, sponsors, arena operators or owners, and each of them, their officers, agents, and employees (all hereinafter collectively referred to as "releasees") from any and all claims and liability arising out of strict liability or ordinary negligence of releasees or any other participant which causes the undersigned injury, death, damages or property damage. We, the undersigned, jointly, or ordinary negligence of releasees or any other participant which causes the undersigned injury, death, damages or property damage. We, the undersigned, jointly, or ordinary negligence of releasees or any other participant which causes the undersigned injury, death, damages or property damage. We, the undersigned, jointly, or ordinary negligence of releasees or any other participant which causes the undersigned injury, death, damages or property damage. We, the undersigned, jointly, or ordinary negligence of releasees are releasees harmless and to indemnify releasees from any claim, judgment, or expenses releasees may incur arising out of any of the minor's activities o use in promotional literature and their release to print media, television, or other electronic media.  4. AGREE that this agreement shall apply to any incident, injury, accident or death occurring at any IPRA-sanctioned rodeo and FOR A PERIOD OF ONE (1) YEAR THEREAFTER. All subsequent agreements and release documents signed by any of the undersigned shall amplify, but shall in no way limit the provisions of this document. The provisions of this document may be cancelled by any one of the undersigned by delivering to the IPRA written cancellation of this agreement which shall be effective 24 hours after the date said cancellation is actually received by the IPRA.

STEAK SALAD WITH BUTTERMILK BLUE CHEESE DRESSING

Recipes courtesy of Hubble Family from the Bring Em on Home cowboy cookbook

INGREDIENTS:

Salad:

l lb STEAK STRIP LOIN, or good grilling steak without bone

1 HEAD LETTUCE, Leaf, Bib, or California Spring Mix

1/2 cup RADISHES, thinly sliced

1 AVOCADO

2 GREEN ONIONS

1/4 cup BLUE CHEESE CRUMBLES, optional

1/2 tsp. SALT

1/2 tsp. PEPPER

l small can MADARIN ORANGES

1/2 cup CHERRY TOMATOES, halved

1/4 cup WALNUT HALVES

Dressing:

1/3 cup BUTTERMILK

1/4 cup BLUE CHEESE CRUMBLES

3 Tosp. MAYONNAISE

1 tsp. WHITE WINE VINEGAR

1 tsp. DIJON MUSTARD

COOKING DIRECTIONS:

In food processor puree together buttermilk, cheese, mayonnaise, vinegar and mustard until smooth. Set aside.

Season steak with salt and pepper. Place on grill or in grill pan at medium high heat, cook until medium rare, about 8 minutes. Transfer to cutting board and tent with foil. Let stand 10 minutes before thinly slicing across the grain.

Meanwhile, divide lettuce, radishes, tomatoes, avocado and orange slices among plates. Top with steak, dressing, green onions, walnuts and blue cheese crumbles.

Did you know...

Horses, like humans, have one leg (in a horse's case, make that plural) that is a hair shorter than the other. By observing which side of the neck a horse's mane falls on you can tell which front leg is the shortest. The mane will fall to the short-legged side.

By the numbers

Use a number on the outside to make the statement correct. Each number is only used once.

By the number = 4, 6, 10, 8, 40, 5, 1, 175, 2, 2, 3, 3
