THE 2016 ANNUAL RESOURCE GUIDE DIRECTORIES

8 National Resources for Specific Disabilities

An alphabetized directory of specific disabilities and the disability-specific organizations and associations in the United States and Canada.

34 Adaptive Recreation Organizations

A directory of national organizations offering adaptive sports and recreational activities to individuals with special needs and disabilities.

36 Alliance for Technology Access (ATA)

A directory of nationwide centers that help children and adults with disabilities gain access to adaptive technology and that provide hands-on consultations, demonstrate products, make recommendations and referrals, and present workshops on technology use.

38 Matching Resources

A directory of "Matching Resources"—both national and international—that can help parents who have children with extremely rare conditions or unique combinations of disabilities.

39 Family to Family Resources

Family-to-Family Health Information centers (F2F HICs) are non-profit organizations that help families of children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHC) and the professionals who serve them.

42 State Assistive Technology Programs

A directory, provided by the Rehabilitation Engineering and Assistive Technology Society of North America (RESNA), of programs funded by the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research that enable individuals with disabilities to gain access to assistive technology devices.

45 Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health

A directory of contacts for state organizations, chapters, and representatives of The Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health, which serves to provide and sustain leadership for a broad and deep nationwide network of family-run organizations.

50 State Protection and Advocacy Agencies (P&As) and the National Association of Protection and Advocacy Services (NAPAS)

A directory of State Protection and Advocacy Agencies (P&As) found nationwide and in each U.S. territory that provide legally-based advocacy services to people with special needs by way of the National Association of Protection and Advocacy Services (NAPAS).

54 University Affiliated Programs

A directory of university affiliated programs that provide direct clinical, educational, and other services to individuals with developmental disabilities and their families, helping them find appropriate services.

THE 2016 ANNUAL RESOURCE GUIDE MILITARY DIRECTORIES

81 Exceptional Family Member Program Managers

A directory of Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) managers for the United States Army (81), Marine Corps (83), Navy (84), Air Force (87), and Coast Guard (88), U.S. Army Reserves and National Guard (90).

94 School Liaison Officers

The mission of the School Liaison Officer is to provide military commanders with the support necessary to coordinate and advise military parents of school-aged children on educational issues and needs and to assist in solving education-related problems.

98 Soldier and Family Assistance Centers (SFACs)

The United States Department of the Army established Soldier and Family Assistance Centers to provide a central location for wounded soldiers and their families to receive the comprehensive and varied services they need as they recover from their injuries and their families adapt to these changes in their lives.

58 Parent Training & Information Centers (PTIs) and Community Parent Resource Centers (CPRCs)

A state-by-state directory of centers that provide training and information to families and professionals to help them deal more effectively in meeting the educational needs of children with disabilities.

61 National Information and Advocacy Resources

A listing of national organizations that provide information and advocacy resources for families and professionals.

64 Early Intervention Programs

A state-by-state and territories directory of early intervention, toddler programs, and preschool special education resources for children with disabilities that is outlined through the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

70 Federal and Federally Funded Information Resources

A directory of clearinghouses, information centers, and institutes that focus on specific topics by providing free materials, with some also providing referrals to local resources.

72 State Offices of Special Education

A directory that provides contact information for each state's education agency that is responsible for supervising special education services.

74 Vocational Rehabilitation Programs

A state-by-state directory of vocational rehabilitation programs.

76 Parent to Parent Programs

A directory of programs that offer information and emotional support to parents who have a child or family member with special needs by matching families with a trained "veteran" parent.

77 American with Disabilities Act Programs - Disability Business Technical Assistance Centers

A directory of the 10 regional Disability Business Technical Assistance centers that provide information, technical assistance, and training on meeting the Americans with Disabilities Act standards in a business, public area, or school.

78 Title V Programs

A state-by-state listing of Title V programs that provide health-related services to children with special healthcare needs and access to other services such as parent support and information.

98 Fisher Houses

A Fisher House™ is "a home away from home" for families of patients receiving medical care at major military and VA medical centers.

100 The United States Department of Veterans Affairs

A directory of United States Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) resources.

103 Family Organizations

A listing of organizations that might be of interest to military families with members with disabilities.

JUSTICE OUT OF SCALE: The sheer number of laws is unfathomable; in fact no one really knows the number of laws in the Federal code.

It's the Law

One of the most recent eponymous laws that Exceptional Parent magazine salutes, supports and applauds is Chloe's Law (Down Syndrome Prenatal Education Act).

A physician, an engineer, and an attorney were discussing who among them belonged to the oldest of the three professions represented. The physician said, "Remember, on the sixth day God took a rib from Adam and fashioned Eve, making him the first surgeon. Therefore, medicine is the oldest profession."

The engineer replied, "But, before that, God created the heavens and earth from chaos and confusion, and thus he was the first engineer. Therefore, engineering is an older profession than medicine."

Then, the lawyer spoke up. "Yes," he said, "But who do you think created all of the chaos and confusion?"

There are seemingly more jokes, scorn and dismay about lawyers than any other profession. But is it the lawyers or the "laws" that are the real culprits? Firstly, the sheer number of laws is unfathomable; in fact no one really knows the number of laws in the Federal code.

According to Matt Vespa writing in Townhall, "There are at least 5,000 federal criminal laws, with 10,000-300,000 regulations that can be enforced criminally. In fact, our entire criminal code has become a leviathan unto itself. In 2003, there were only 4,000 offences that carried criminal penalties. By 2013, that number had grown by 21 percent to 4,850. The code has become so big, that the Congressional Research Service and the American Bar Association simply do not have enough staff to adequately categorize every law we have on the books."

So we got laws up the kazoo and continue to make new ones. We not only continue to make up new ones, we don't rescind the dumb ones we made up in the past.

In Alaska it's illegal to wake up a bear for a photo opportunity.

In Wisconsin it's illegal to serve butter substitutes in state prisons.

In Connecticut a pickle is not officially a pickle unless it bounces.

While I feel sorry for those individuals who have to enforce these laws, I feel very sorry for those individuals who have had to come up with "names" for those laws.

It seems to make much more sense to "name" laws after the person that was responsible for the initiation of the law in the first place. Thus examples of these "eponymous laws" are:

- Lindberg Law (makes transporting a kidnapping victim across states lines a federal crime; named after the infamous Lindbergh kidnapping in the 1930's).
- Tokyo Rose Statutes (forbids foreigners from owning more than 25 percent of any U.S. broadcaster; named after the infamous broadcasters of anti-American Japanese propaganda during World War II.)

- Kristen's Law (named after Kristen Modafferi, an adult reported missing in North Carolina; her family couldn't use any of the nation's kidnapping resources to try to track her down because she wasn't a child. The Act created a National Center for Missing Adults).

Then there are laws, theorems, principles, adages and other succinct observations or predictions named after a person. For instance:

- Dolbear's Law: an empirical relationship between temperature and the rate of cricket chirping.
- Gall's Law: a complex system that works is invariably found to have evolved from a simple system that worked.
- Niven's Law: if the universe of discourse permits the possibility of time travel and of changing the past, then no time machine will be invented in that universe.
- One of the most insightful laws relates to the naming of laws and that is Stigler's Law of Eponymy, which states that no scientific discovery is named after its original discoverer.

My favorite battery of eponymous laws aren't actual legislative laws or even laws of nature; a more appropriate name would be "adages."

- An example being Acton's Law: "Power tends to corrupt; absolute power corrupts absolutely."
- How about, Dykstra's Law: "Everybody is somebody else's weirdo."
- Or Kitman's Law, "Pure driveltends to drive away ordinary drivelt."
- Napoleon's Law, "Never interrupt your enemy when he is making a mistake."
- Sinclair's Law (named after Upton Sinclair, the Pulitzer Prize-winning author): "It is difficult to get a man to understand something, when his salary depends upon his not understanding it!"
- And of course you can take Thoreau's Law to the bank: "If you see a man approaching you with the obvious intention of doing you good, you should run for your life."

One of the most recent eponymous laws that Exceptional Parent magazine salutes, supports and applauds is Chloe's Law

(Down Syndrome Prenatal Education Act). This Pennsylvanian law requires health care providers to make a woman who receives the prenatal diagnosis of Down syndrome aware that they can receive a full range of factual and supportive information through the Pennsylvania Department of Health.

Information includes physical, developmental, educational and psychosocial outcomes as well as contacts for relevant resource centers, clearinghouses and support services. It was initiated by Kurt and Margie Kondrich in honor of their 15-year-old daughter, Chloe, who has Down syndrome. In an article in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Campbell North reported that, "Mr. Kondrich spearheaded the advocacy effort for the legislation after discovering that more than 90 percent of women terminate their pregnancy after receiving a prenatal diagnosis for Down syndrome."

Chloe Kondrich joins Rosa Marcellino, another young girl with Down syndrome, in being the impetus for the passage of significant, long overdue and game changing laws; the laws that articulate the core values of an inclusive society. Readers of Exceptional Parent magazine will recall that Ms. Marcellino is the Rosa of "Rosa's Law" that dropped the term mental retardation in 2010.

Among laws there are Twelve Immutable Universal Laws (which constitutes the basis for a doctoral thesis) the one "immutable universal law" that demonstrates the value of both Chloe and Rosa is "The Law of Divine Oneness," where everything is connected to everything else. What we think, say, do and believe will have a corresponding effect on others and the universe around us. •

God's Instrument of Love

Mother Teresa was small in stature but she possessed a heart as big as the sky, and the legacy she left will live on forever. This past December, Pope Francis recognized a second miracle attributable to her, clearing a path toward her canonization into sainthood.

First things first: from all of us at Exceptional Parent, please accept our very best and sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas and a healthy, safe and Happy New Year. We give thanks each and every day that we live in the greatest country on earth, defended by the men and women of character and integrity who make up our Armed Forces and protected each day by police, firemen, EMT workers and volunteers who sacrifice much for our safety and the safety of those we love.

As we head into 2016, I wanted to share a story with each of you. It is about a woman named Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu, who passed away on September 5, 1997. Now, her given name probably does not ring a bell, but it's a safe bet that you will know her as Mother Teresa. She was small in stature but she possessed a heart as big as the sky, and the legacy she left will live on forever. On Thursday, December 17, 2015, Pope Francis recognized a second miracle attributable to Mother Teresa, clearing a path toward her canonization into sainthood, probably in the Fall of 2016.

In her lifelong mission of ministering to the poor, sick, homeless and hungry, Mother Teresa was the epitome of kindness and love. She lived among the poor, ministering to the lowest of the low and inspiring millions of people of all faiths and walks of life, from those who tilled the field, to heads of state and corporations. Her funding came from donations and contributions, and every nickel went into food and clothing for those who needed it most.

She never asked why people contributed to her charity; she was not in the business of passing judgment. She was in the business of passing out food and offering shelter to those in need. In her Nobel Peace Prize lecture, Mother Teresa said, "And so let us always meet each other with a smile, for the smile is the beginning of love, and once we begin to love each other naturally we want to do something good." So much wisdom from such a small and fragile nun!

you do not feed them today they will starve." She believed passionately that this was her mission; educating and training them was someone else's mission. And in my opinion, she was right.

When Mother Teresa passed away on September 5, 1997, the whole world, in my opinion, should have stopped and had a moment of silence to honor her. That didn't happen because if you think back to August of 1997, there already was great mourning for the passing of Princess Diana, and that consumed the world. Yes, in Calcutta Mother Teresa was mourned and she certainly is missed today. But I am hopeful that in the Fall of 2016 nothing can overshadow her canonization, not even the upcoming Presidential Elections. But, if we were able to ask Agnes Gonxha Bojaxhiu her thoughts on this she would probably say what she said hundreds of times before: "We cannot do great things; we can only do many small things with great love." So, in reflecting on the life of this incredible instrument of God's mercy and love, I wish all of you much love in 2016. Perhaps this year we can all try to put God

SMALL THINGS WITH GREAT LOVE: Mother Teresa inspired millions of people of all faiths and walks of life, from those who tilled the field, to heads of state and corporations.

In all the years I have lived, I have never heard a bad word spoken of Mother Teresa. Not one. She was universally loved and admired. Yet, I did hear someone question why she did not extend her mission towards educating those she cared for; why not educate instead of just handing out food and offering shelter? Her answer was simple: "if back into our classrooms, halls of justice, in our military, in our daily lives and become, once again, one Nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all! •

National Resources for Specific Disabilities

THIS DIRECTORY INCLUDES NATIONAL GROUPS and organizations that can serve as resources for parents and professionals seeking information and support about specific disabilities and conditions. Please note that information on some specific disabilities may also be available from Federal and Federally-Funded Information Resources (see page 70 for additional listings), Parent to Parent Programs (see page 76), or certain National Information and Advocacy Resources (see page 61). Matching Resources may also be useful (see page 38).

CROSS-REFERENCING

Categories have been cross-referenced where appropriate. Many conditions are known by more than one name. Readers are directed to “see” other relevant category names where resources are also listed. (Under CHROMOSOME 4P-, for example, readers are referred to WOLF-HIRSCHHORN SYNDROME.)

Some specific disabilities are not covered by a specific national organization. These conditions may be cross-referenced to a broader category that includes organizations that can provide helpful resources. (For example, the metabolic condition ARGINASE DEFICIENCY is cross-referenced to UREA CYCLE DISORDERS.) In some cases, the reader may be directed to a similar (but not identical) condition, when groups for that condition have indicated the ability and willingness to provide appropriate information and support. For example, 45,X SYNDROME is cross-referenced to TURNER'S SYNDROME and HYPOPIGMENTATION.

In cases where resources are available for both a general category of disability (for example, VISUAL IMPAIRMENT) and specific conditions within that general category (for example, ALBINISM, GLAUCOMA, MACULAR DISEASES, RETINITIS PIGMENTOSA, RETINOBLASTOMA, SEPTO-OPTIC DYSPLASIA, and USHER SYNDROME), cross-referencing goes in two directions. Under VISUAL IMPAIRMENTS, for example, readers are informed of the types of visual impairments for which specific resources exist, and under each specific type of visual impairment, readers are referred to the more general category.

In cases where one specific condition usually includes other conditions, but those other conditions do not necessarily include the first condition, cross-referencing goes in one direction only. For example, under LAURENCE-MOON-BARDET-BIEDL SYNDROME (LMBBS), readers are directed to “see also” KIDNEY DISORDERS and RETINITIS PIGMENTOSA, though neither of these conditions refers to LMBBS. This is because LMBBS typically includes kidney complications and retinitis pigmentosa, but a primary diagnosis of either one of these conditions does not typically include LMBBS.

USING THIS DIRECTORY

A description of services provided by individual groups follows each listing in this directory. Numbers correspond to items listed in the Key to Services, which appears on every other page. Some organizations offer advocacy and materials in other languages in addition to English. These languages are indicated after the list of services provided. When available, email addresses and Web sites have been included. Email addresses are indicated by the symbol . Unless otherwise indicated, all telephone numbers are for voice only.

Safety. Care. Comfort.

That's what a QAP-accredited mobility dealer can do for your family.

Dedicated to helping families of children with disabilities overcome mobility challenges, the National Mobility Equipment Dealers Association's Quality Assurance Program™ ensures reliability, high quality and superior service when modifying accessible vehicles. Putting the safety and comfort of your family first, our commitment to providing life-changing mobility solutions is upheld by our members through:

- Individual, in-person evaluations and custom vehicle modifications
- Specialized training in adaptive technology and innovation
- 24-hour emergency roadside services nationwide

Your child's safety comes first. Find a QAP-accredited mobility dealer near you.

Alliance for Technology Access

THE ALLIANCE FOR TECHNOLOGY ACCESS (ATA) The Alliance for Technology Access (ATA) is a national network of technology resource centers, community-based organizations, technology vendors, and individuals who are committed to increasing the use of technology by children and adults with disabilities and functional limitations. The mission of the ATA is to increase the use of technology by children and adults with disabilities and functional limitations. ATA encourages and facilitates the empowerment of people with disabilities to participate fully in their communities. Through public education, information and referral, capacity building in community organizations, and advocacy/policy efforts, the ATA enables millions of people to live, learn, work, define their futures, and achieve their dreams. ATA was conceived in 1983 by a group of parents and professionals in northern California in response to the needs of a five-year-old child with cerebral palsy who, it was believed, would benefit from the coming technology revolution. From this small group of parents, consumers, and professionals, the ATA has grown into one of the nation's largest resources to help children and adults who have disabilities and functional limitations gain access to the benefits of assistive technology.

In 1987, the group was joined by a major technology company to form the Alliance for Technology Access, with 11 charter member resource centers in 10 states. In 1989, ATA was established as an independent nonprofit organization. All 41 nonprofit ATA Technology Resource Centers are operated through a collaboration of people with disabilities, family members, and professionals in related fields. All are barrier-free in architecture as well as in attitude, and are committed to providing services, information, and referrals for everyone who contacts them. ATA's vendor members include companies who manufacture both mainstream and assistive technology. Associate members include a wide range of individuals and organizations who work in their own communities and seek ways to support ATA's mission. Join ATA now and become part of this vital nationwide network with the most up-to-date information about assistive technology. Your membership will include a subscription to ATA's listserv where you can read and participate in discussions about assistive technology. You can post questions yourself or help others who are looking for information. You also will be eligible for significant discounts on major assistive technology conferences and save up to 50% on registration fees. Most importantly, you will be connected to a network of valuable resources and people committed to increasing access to assistive technology for people with disabilities and functional limitations. Visit ATA's website, <http://www.ATAccess.org>, to find a wealth of assistive technology resources and information. There, you will find the HUB, a searchable and interactive database of companies who manufacture and sell assistive technology. Also you can read about ATA's book, Computer Resources for People with Disabilities, a valuable guide to exploring assistive technology.

To speak with a representative of the ATA, contact their national office: 1.800.914.3017 (phone), atainfo@ataaccess.org (email), or by TTY at 731.554.5284. This listing was provided by the ATA. When available, Web sites and email addresses have been included. (Unless otherwise indicated, all telephone numbers are for voice only.) Current as of December 2015.

Matching Resources

THIS DIRECTORY OF MATCHING RESOURCES – both national and international – can help parents who have children with extremely rare conditions or unique combinations of disabilities. Others may be dealing with particular family situations such as single parenting, raising twins, or adoption. These networking organizations do parent-to-parent matching based on children's disabilities and, in some cases, other family situations. Most maintain ongoing contact with other groups worldwide.

Unless otherwise noted, all services are provided free of charge.
This directory is current as of December 2015.

Family-to-Family Health Information Centers

Family Voices, Inc.

The mission of Family Voices is to ensure family-centered care for all children with special health care needs and disabilities. Family Voices provides families with resources to make informed decisions, advocates for improved public and private policies, builds partnerships among professionals and families, and serves as a trusted resource on health care. At the core of Family Voices are grassroots families supported by the Family-to-Family Health Information Centers (F2F HICs) and State Affiliate Organizations (SAOs). National Family Voices is connected to individual families from whom we learn and to whom we can provide information. Family Voices representatives in each state and territory assist families with issues related to the health care of a child or youth with a special health care need or disability.

Family Voices hosts the National Center for Family/Professional Partnerships, a project funded by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB), that provides technical assistance and training to support the work of Family-to-Family Health Information Centers across the country in helping families of children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN). More information is available at www.familyvoices.org, or www.fv-ncfpp.org, or by calling 1-888-835-5669.

Family Voices State Affiliate Organizations (SAOs)

SAOs are nonprofit, family-led advocacy organizations committed to the mission, vision and principles of Family Voices. SAOs engage in systems change in their state and at the national level to improve the quality of health care for CYSHCN and their families. There are 45 SAOs nationwide. Most F2F HICs are also SAOs.

Family-to-Family Health Information Centers (F2F HICs)

F2F HICs are federally-designated, family-led and staffed organizations that assist families of CYSHCN and the professionals who serve them. F2F HICs provide support, information, resources, and training around health issues to directly assist families as well as to improve systems by providing guidance on health programs and policy. F2F HICs are uniquely able to help families because they are staffed by family members who have first-hand experience navigating the maze of health care services and programs for CYSHCN. This intimate understanding of the issues that families face when accessing care makes F2F HIC staff exceptionally qualified to help families navigate health systems and make informed decisions. Some F2F HICs are independent nonprofits; others are part of collaborative nonprofit organizations or state agencies. All F2F HICs have a strong commitment to and expertise about CYSHCN.

How are F2F HICs Funded?

The F2F HIC grant program was established in all States and the District of Columbia by authorization of the Family Opportunity Act (part of the Deficit Reduction Act, 2005) and funding has been extended by subsequent laws through FY 2017. Grants are administered through a competitive grant process by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, HRSA, MCHB, Division of Services for Children with Special Health Needs. Each F2F HIC is awarded approximately $95,700 annually.

How do F2F HICs help?

Each F2F HIC is unique, reflecting the needs and character of the community and state that it serves. Organizational structure, locations, partnerships, and specific initiatives may vary. However, all F2F HICs provide:

- Assistance to families and professionals in navigating health care systems
- Information, education, training, support and referral services
- Outreach to underserved/underrepresented populations
- Guidance on health programs and policy
- Collaboration with other F2F HICs, family groups, and professionals in efforts to improve services for CYSHCN
- Evaluation and outcome assessment

What are some of the typical questions that a parent or professional might ask a F2F HIC?

- Is there a health insurance program that will pay for my child's medical needs? How do I enroll?
- How will the Affordable Care Act affect me?
- Medicaid has denied payment of some of my child's services. What do I do now?
- My child is very medically complicated. How can I best work with her doctors?
- Where can I find a support group for families of children with my child's disability?
- How can you help us to develop a Family Advisory Committee at our hospital?
- Do you have materials appropriate for our growing immigrant community?
- We'd like to set up a family-faculty training program. Can you help?

State Assistive Technology Programs

THE ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY ACT OF 1998, as amended (P.L. 108-364), provides funding to support grants to states throughout the U.S. and its territories for AT programs.

The mission of the state AT programs is to get technology into the hands of those who need it so they can be more independent and improve functional capabilities to reach educational, life, and employment goals.

What is Assistive Technology?

The term "assistive technology" encompasses all technology used by people with disabilities to perform daily living activities that would otherwise be difficult, inaccessible, or impossible.

An assistive technology device is defined as "any item, piece of equipment, or product system, whether acquired commercially, modified, or customized, that is used to increase, maintain, or improve functional capabilities of individuals with disabilities."

The term assistive technology service means "any service that directly assists an individual with a disability in the selection, acquisition, or use of an assistive technology device."

What Services Do the State AT Programs Provide?

The 56 State Assistive Technology Act Programs conduct activities to expand access to technology for individuals with disabilities of all ages through comprehensive statewide programs.

These activities include the following:

- Support statewide financing systems for the purchase, lease, or other acquisition of AT devices and services.
- Support device reutilization programs that provide for the exchange, repair, recycling, or other reutilization of AT devices.
- Support device loan programs that provide for short-term loans of AT so that individuals can try out devices or fill a temporary need for a device.
- Support device demonstration programs that demonstrate a variety of AT devices and services and provide information about vendors, providers, and repair services.
- Provide training and technical assistance to promote access to assistive technology devices and services, including outreach support to individuals from under represented and rural populations.
- Support public awareness designed to provide a statewide information and referral system related to the availability and benefits of assistive technology devices and services.

Promote interagency coordination and collaboration with community-based organizations to improve access to assistive technology devices and services for individuals of all ages who experience a disability.

The Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health

THROUGHOUT AMERICA, THERE IS AN AWAKENED AWARENESS of the struggles, challenges, and untapped possibilities for children and adolescents with mental health needs. Effective, family-driven advocacy ensures that children's mental health remains a highly visible, national priority. The Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health (www.ffcmh.org) serves, with humility and determination, to provide and sustain leadership for a broad and deep nationwide network of family-run organizations. The Federation harnesses the passion (and honors the cultural diversity) of the organization's national membership and help focus it as a potent force for change on behalf of children with mental health needs and their families. The Federation is a passionate advocate at the national level for the rights of these children and families. The Federation is equally passionate in transferring insights and experiences to statewide family organizations, local chapters, and other family-run organizations so that skillful and effective advocacy can occur at state and local levels as well. The Federation extends a lifeline to this network so that partner organizations might draw strength from and, in turn, better respond to the needs of families requiring guidance, training, support, and personal advocacy. Through evolving relationships with these organizations, the Federation jointly discovers and shares new models, new technologies, new tools, and new visions that enrich the capacities of partners, strengthen the Federation network, and allow the Federation to serve with pride in this leadership role.

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

This directory includes the addresses and phone numbers of the chapters, state organizations, and partners. When available, email addresses are provided. Unless otherwise indicated, all telephone numbers are for voice only. State organizations are statewide, family-run organizations focused solely on the needs of children with mental health issues and their families. Chapters are local, family-run organizations with a similar focus.

This directory is current as of December 2015.

State Protection and Advocacy Agencies (P&As) and the National Association of Protection & Advocacy Systems (NAPAS)

STATE PROTECTION AND ADVOCACY AGENCIES (P&As) offices are federally mandated to provide legally-based advocacy services to people with disabilities in each state and territory. P&As primarily advocate on behalf of special education students through funds from two federal programs: Protection and Advocacy for People with Developmental Disabilities (PADD) and Protection and Advocacy for Individual Rights (PAIR). These two programs join four other programs: Protection and Advocacy for Individuals with Mental Illness (PAIMI), Protection and Advocacy for Assistive Technology (PAAT), Protection and Advocacy for Beneficiaries of Social Security (PABSS), Protection and Advocacy for Traumatic Brain Injury (PATBI), Protection and Advocacy for Voting Access (PAVA) and the Client Assistance Program (CAP) to complete the entire P&A system.

P&As all over the country work on a variety of cases with common themes for people with disabilities, one of which is ensuring that children in special education are receiving the services to which they are entitled under Individuals with Disabilities Education Act IDEA. The P&A system provide a unique and effective resource for disability rights advocacy and education. People with disabilities, their family members, and representatives are encouraged to make use of these services. Consistent with available resources and priorities established by the community, P&As will make every effort to provide appropriate assistance to remedy the situation.

For additional information about the P&ANetwork, including the location of all P&As nationwide, visit the National Disability Rights Network (NDRN) website at www.ndrn.org or via email at infor@ndrn.org.

If you're concerned about the possible side effects of immunizations, consider the possible effects of not getting them.

As a parent, the side effects of immunizations can be unsettling. They may include redness, swelling and fever.

But, the effects of not getting your child immunized can be worse. The same diseases that have plagued children for generations still exist today. But now, you can do something about them.

For more information about immunizations, ask your pediatrician.

University Affiliated Programs

The Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD) is a membership organization established 40 years ago to support and promote national networks of university-based interdisciplinary research, training and service centers and programs.

These centers and programs serve and are located in every U.S. state and territory and are housed within a variety of university departments or medical centers. They serve as a bridge between the academic work of major universities and the day to day practical challenges facing individuals with disabilities and their families in communities across the country.

The Centers and programs work within the higher education setting to bring the latest scientific findings and innovations to families and communities to improve the lives of children and adults with disabilities.

The Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD) Network members consist of:

- 67 University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD), funded by the Administration on Developmental Disabilities (ADD)
- 43 Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND) Programs funded by the Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB)
- 15 Eunice Kennedy Shriver Intellectual and Developmental Disability Research Centers (IDDRC), funded by the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute for Child Health and Development (NICHD)

UCEDDs: Since 1963, University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDDs) have been working to accomplish a shared vision that foresees a nation in which all Americans, including Americans with disabilities, participate fully in their communities. Independence, productivity, and community inclusion are key components of this vision.

Sixty-seven UCEDDs in every state and territory are located in a university setting. Centers are in a unique position to facilitate the flow of disability-related information between community and university. UCEDDs work with people with disabilities, members of their families, state and local government agencies, and community providers in projects that provide training, technical assistance, service, research, and information sharing, with a focus on building the capacity of communities to sustain all their citizens. Centers have played key roles in every major disability initiative over the past four decades. Many issues, such as early intervention, health care, community-based services, inclusive and meaningful education, transition from school to work, employment, housing, assistive technology, and transportation have been directly benefited by the services, research, and training provided by UCEDDs.

LENDs: Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Related Disabilities (LEND) programs provide long-term, graduate level interdisciplinary training as well as interdisciplinary services and care. The purpose of the LEND training program is to improve the health of infants, children, and adolescents with disabilities. They accomplish this by preparing trainees from diverse professional disciplines to assume leadership roles in their respective fields and by insuring high levels of interdisciplinary clinical competence.

LEND programs operate within a university system, usually as part of a UCEDD or children's hospital, and collaborate with local university hospitals and/or health care centers. This set-up gives them the expert faculty, facilities, and other resources necessary to provide exceptional interdisciplinary training and services. The LENDs grew from the 1950s efforts of the Children's Bureau (now the Maternal and Child Health Bureau) to identify children with disabilities as a Title V program priority. They are currently funded under the 2006 Combating Autism Act and are administered by the Health Resources and Service's Administration's (HRSA) Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB). There are currently 43 LENDs in 37 states.

IDDRCs: Established by Congress as "centers of excellence" for research in mental retardation and developmental disabilities, Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Research Centers (IDDRCs) represent the nation's first and foremost sustained effort to prevent and treat disabilities through biomedical and behavioral research.

IDDRCs also contribute to the development and implementation of evidence-based practices by evaluating the effectiveness of biological, biochemical, and behavioral interventions; developing assistive technologies; and advancing prenatal diagnosis and newborn screening. IDDRCs receive funding through the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute for Child Health and Human Development (NICHD).

There are 15 of these research centers across the country. These listings were provided by: the Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD): 1100 Wayne Avenue, Suite 1000; Silver Spring, MD; 20910; (301) 588-8252, www.aucd.org. The Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD) promotes and supports a national network of interdisciplinary centers on disabilities. The members of AUCD represent every U.S. state and territory and include 67 University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDDs), 43 Interdisciplinary Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental and Related Disabilities (LEND) Programs and 15 Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Research Centers (IDDRC). Together, these organizations advance policy and practice through research, education, leadership, and services for and with individuals with developmental and other disabilities, their families, and communities, in support of independence, productivity, and satisfying quality of life.

Parent Training & Information Centers (PTIs) and Community Parent Resource Centers (CPRCs)

The Center for Parent Information and Resources (CPIR) serves as a central resource of information and products to the community of Parent Training Information (PTI) Centers and the Community Parent Resource Centers (CPRCs). Families with a child who has a disability often need information about the disability of their child, about early intervention (for babies and toddlers), school services (for school-aged children), therapy, local policies, transportation, and much more. Every State has at least one PTI to offer families just this kind of information. Many States also have a CPRC, which offers the same type of support and training to parents of children with disabilities. Find the contact information to the Parent Center in your state at www.parentcenterhub.org/find-your-center/

National Information and Advocacy Resources

THESE NATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS ARE information and advocacy resources for families and professionals. Many of these organizations provide a variety of services, others focus on more specific areas of concern. Numbers following each listing correspond to items listed in the Key to Services, which describes services provided by individual organizations. We have tried to list as much information as possible on each group, but it is best to contact the organization directly for a full description of services.

When available, email addresses and websites have been included. Unless otherwise indicated, all telephone numbers are for voice only.

This directory is current as of December 2015.

Early Intervention Programs

THE INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES EDUCATION ACT (IDEA) requires all states and territories to provide early intervention and preschool special education for children with disabilities. This directory lists the following resources for each state or territory

- Coordinators of infant and toddler programs serving children from birth to age three, known as Part C programs. This information is maintained at <http://www.ectacenter.org/contact/ptccoord.asp>
- Coordinators of preschool special education programs (known as Section 619 programs) serving children from ages three through five. This information is maintained at <http://www.nectac.org/contact/619coord.asp>

These listings are provided by the Early Childhood Technical Assistance Center [ECTA Center, FPG Child Development Institute, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Campus Box 8040, Chapel Hill, NC 27599-8040; telephone: (919) 962-2001; email: ectacenter@unc.edu]. ECTA Center is funded by the Office of Special Education Programs, U.S. Department of Education, cooperative agreement, H326P12000. This directory is current as of December 2015.

Stop serious childhood diseases in their tracks like you do your curious explorer.

Put up a wall of protection with safe, proven vaccines. Giving your baby the recommended immunizations by age two is the best way to protect him from 14 vaccine-preventable diseases, like whooping cough and measles. For more reasons to vaccinate, talk to your child's doctor or go to www.cdc.gov/vaccines or call 1-800-CDC-INFO.

Immunization. Power to Protect.

State Offices of Special Education

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF STATE DIRECTORS OF SPECIAL EDUCATION (NASDSE) (www.nasdse.org) represents the state directors of special education in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, the Department of Defense Education Agency (DODEA), the federal territories and the Freely Associated States.

NASDSE is a non-profit organization that was established in 1938 to promote and support education programs and related services for children and youth with disabilities in the United States and outlying areas. NASDSE accomplishes its goals by establishing and maintaining relations between those responsible for the development of statewide and federal special education programs and those responsible for general curriculum planning at the local, state and national levels. NASDSE activities are designed to provide professional support to its members and others interested in special education.

NASDSE suggests parents contact the following people in the order listed if they are having a problem with their child's education: (1) the child's teacher; (2) the special education director in the school; and (3) the district's special education coordinator. If the student has an Individualized Education Plan (IEP) that is not being enforced and the above individuals are not helpful, the parent can contact the state education agency where a complaint can be filed.

Serious strength, resilience and joy.

For children with serious illnesses, their time at camp can have a long-lasting and profound effect. It's a chance for them to kick back and just be kids. That's the vision Paul Newman had in 1988 and the legacy our global network continues today. Help us provide this life-changing experience free of charge. Our 100% Promise ensures your entire donation will directly benefit the children and families who need it most.

Vocational Rehabilitation Programs

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION ASSISTS PEOPLE with disabilities in preparing for, beginning, and keeping employment. One of the oldest programs in which state funds are matched by federal funds, vocational rehabilitation began in 1920 with the passage of the Civilian Vocational Rehabilitation Act, which encouraged states to provide rehabilitation services to veterans with disabilities. Today, vocational rehabilitation programs operate under the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and its subsequent amendments. The following is a listing of state vocational rehabilitation services.

Parent to Parent Programs

Parent to Parent USA Alliance Members provide parents of children with disabilities and special health care needs emotional and informational support. Their unique method of providing support through a carefully arranged, one-on-one match with a trained, Supporting Parent is proven to be effective. These reliable allies assist families in getting the support they need in their communities.

USING THIS DIRECTORY

This listing provided by Parent to Parent USA includes only those statewide Parent to Parent Organizations who have completed the P2PUSA 2014 Survey.

If you are looking for a local program in a state that has a statewide program, please contact the statewide program for contact information. If there is not a statewide Parent to Parent program in your state and you are interested in establishing one, please contact Parent to Parent USA Executive Director, Kathy Brill, at kathyb@p2pusa.org.

When available, email addresses and web sites have been included at Parent to Parent USA (www.p2pusa.org) under "Looking for Support". The vision of Parent to Parent USA (P2PUSA) is for all families with children who have special health care needs, mental health challenges or disabilities to have access to the support they need to be successful. Parent to Parent USA's mission is to promote access, quality and leadership in parent to parent support nationally through an alliance of statewide programs.

This directory is current as of December 2015.

Americans with Disabilities Act Programs Disability Business Technical Assistance Centers

The ADA National Network provides information, guidance and training on the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), tailored to meet the needs of business, government and individuals at local, regional and national levels. The Network consists of ten regional ADA Centers located throughout the United States that provide local assistance to ensure that the ADA is implemented wherever possible. The Centers do not enforce the ADA, but are helpful resources supporting the ADA's mission to "make it possible for everyone with a disability to live a life of freedom and equality." If you have questions on the ADA contact your regional ADA Center toll-free at: (800) 949-4232 (voice/TTY). Or contact your center through the web at www.adata.org The ADA National Network is funded by the National Institute on Disability, Independent Living, and Rehabilitation Research under the Administration for Community Living of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Title V Programs

The Title V Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Block Grant is a partnership with state and territorial MCH and children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN) programs, reaching across economic lines to support such core public health functions as resource development, capacity and systems building, population-based functions such as public information and education, knowledge development, outreach and program linkage, technical assistance to communities, and provider training. State and territorial MCH programs make a special effort to build community capacity to deliver such enabling services as care coordination, transportation, home visiting, and nutrition counseling, which complement and help ensure the success of state Medicaid and CHIP medical assistance programs. This directory is current as of September 2015.

IT'S TIME FOR THAT NEW ASSIGNMENT. Because you have an exceptional family member, your family has been screened by the Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) and the screening has indicated that care is available for your family at your new duty station. Orders are being published. What do you do now?

You know one of the best sources of information about services for your family with special needs is the Exceptional Family Member Program manager at your new installation. You want to contact the Army Community Service and their EFMP manager. But, who is it?

Exceptional Parent magazine has published a list of EFMP managers throughout the U.S. Army since the introduction of its military section in the EP 2007 Annual Resource Guide. This comprehensive list in the Resource Guide has helped Soldiers and spouses find the services they need to take better care of their families. Most of the time, the help is only a telephone call or letter away.

Soldiers are sometimes assigned to an installation managed by another service. Who provides the assistance there? In 2008, EP expanded its coverage of Exceptional Family Member Program managers to include the managers of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. In the future, EP will continue to expand its coverage even further as more information becomes available.

This military listing is important to all members of our uniformed Armed Forces because it provides the most current and accurate information available. It is particularly important to families. We know some families move away from their home installations during deployments and want to know where care is available. Sometimes care is available at the Coast Guard Station down the road, the Marine Corps camp across town, or the Navy base in the city next door.

Last year, the listing for the Army's School Liaison Officers (SLOs) was added. We believe that School Liaison Officers serve the military family by providing a vital link between families of the installation and the local school district. SLOs can help parents overcome the obstacles to education that are a result of the military lifestyle and can serve as advocates for children with special needs.

Southwest Asia has brought new challenges to Wounded Warriors as they begin the transition from the military healthcare system to the Department of Veterans Affairs healthcare system. We added the VA medical centers and clinics in 2008 to ease that transition by providing the telephone numbers and addresses of the VA facility closest to home.

We hope you take a copy of the Resource Guide with you as you travel from installation to installation or travel during that magic recovery time after a deployment. Ask your EFMP manager for a copy of the Pocket Resource Guide, too. It contains the same information as the full-size edition of the Resource Guide, with extra portability. The Pocket Resource Guide fits well in a suitcase or briefcase, and it always fits in your vehicle.

Today and tomorrow, EP will continue to provide the opportunity for families to reach out to each other, share ideas and experiences, and break down the barriers brought on by the physical and emotional strains of caring for family members with special needs.

All the listings are current from our military sources as of December 2015. If you find an error in any of our listings, please contact our military editor at dennisd@eparent.com. Good luck on your new assignment!

Exceptional Family Member Program Managers

United States Army

We believe we have listed all the installations in the United States Army. The listing is correct to the best of our knowledge as of December 2015. We attempted to contact all of the installations in the United States and used the information provided by the Installation Management Command (IMCOM) for the installations overseas. For corrections or updates, please contact our military editor, at militaryeditor@eparent.com.

CONUS

This installation listing contains all of the Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) offices in the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii. The offices are arranged alphabetically by state and then by installation. Overseas EFMP offices (excluding Alaska and Hawaii) are arranged by region and then by installation.

United States Marine Corps

This listing for the United States Marine Corps is correct to the best of our knowledge, as of December 2015. We used the information provided by the Headquarters U.S. Marine Corps Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) Website (www.usmc-mccs.org/efmp). For corrections or updates, please contact your local Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) manager.

The USMC describes its program to assist with special needs in the following way (at www.usmc-mccs.org/efmp/ and www.usmc-mccs.org/efmp/familysupport.cfm):

The content of the Headquarters U.S. Marine Corps EFMP (Exceptional Family Member Program) Website has been developed in detail to assist Marines, their family members, Commands, EFMP Coordinators, and other professionals who have an interest in becoming more knowledgeable about the Exceptional Family Member Program and other resources and information that can be helpful to families with special medical or educational needs. You are invited to browse through the website to find information that will be of benefit to you, your family, your program, or your Marines. The Marine Corps recognizes and is particularly responsive to the needs of Marines, both Active Duty and Marine Corps Reservists, who have family members with special medical and/or education needs. Early enrollment in the EFMP is the Marine's guarantee that the Marine Corps will do its best to match a Marine's grade and occupational specialty with a location where the exceptional family member's needs can be met. There are also other services that the EFMP offers that are designed to improve the quality of life for Marine Corps families with special needs.

If there are changes or corrections, please contact our military editor of EP magazine at dennisd@eparent.com. The EFMP Program Managers in the listing below are arranged alphabetically by installation name.

What Your Doctor Doesn't Know Could Kill You...

Because most veterans don't use the VA and most doctors don't understand how military service affects veterans' health, you need to tell your doctor about the Veterans Health Council.

United States Navy

This listing for the United States Navy is correct to the best of our knowledge as of July 2014. For corrections or updates, contact your Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) manager and ask that the information be reported to the Department of the Navy EFMP Program Manager.

The Navy describes its program to assist with special needs in the following way (at www.npc.navy.mil/CommandSupport/ExceptionalFamilyMember/):

The Navy's Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) is designed to assist sailors by addressing the special needs of their exceptional family members (EFM) during the assignment process. Special needs include any special medical, dental, mental health, developmental or educational requirement, wheelchair accessibility, adaptive equipment or assistive technology devices and services.

In the Navy EFM Program, the primary function is the PERSONNEL FUNCTION. The Navy EFMP Coordinators are located at the medical treatment facility, not at the Fleet and Family Support Centers (all Fleet and Family Support Centers have an EFMP liaison). The Navy EFMP Coordinators serve both Personnel and Family Support functions, but with an emphasis on the Personnel function.

The offices in the listing below are arranged alphabetically by state and then alphabetically by city. Overseas offices are arranged by country and then by installation.

United States Coast Guard

The Coast Guard Special Needs Program is a mandatory enrollment program for all active duty and selected reserve members on orders for 181 days or more who have dependent family members diagnosed with medical, psychological, physical, or educational special needs. The objective of the program is to identify and support the special needs of a Coast Guard family and allow the active duty member to be mission ready. The Special Needs Program, working in concert with other military and civilian agencies, provides a comprehensive, coordinated, multidisciplinary approach to community support, housing, medical, educational, and personnel services for the Coast Guard families with special needs. This listing is current as of December 2015.

A VETERAN'S WORST WOUNDS MAY BE THE ONES YOU CAN'T SEE.

More military deaths by suicide than in combat in 2012

Military suicides are at their highest rate in 10 years

8% to 20%
of military personnel deployed in Iraq and Afghanistan experienced a traumatic brain injury

of national suicides are completed by veterans

300,000
veterans of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan have been diagnosed with PTSD

Traumatic brain injuries
can increase suicidal thoughts and behavior

School Liaison Officers

This listing for School Liaison Officers (SLOs) is correct to the best of our knowledge as of December 2015. For corrections or updates please contact your local SLOs office.

The School Liaison Program offers another source of support for military families with children. SLOs also serve as advocates for children with special needs within the school system. The Department of Defense Education Activity (DoDEA) website (www.dodea.edu) describes the School Liaison Program in the following way (at militaryk12partners.dodea.edu):

The vision of the School Liaison Program is to coordinate and assist school-aged children of military parents with educational opportunities and information necessary to succeed in an academic environment. School Liaison Officers (SLOs) also network, educate, and work in partnership with local schools to provide caring adults to enhance the education experience.

The mission of the School Liaison Officer is to provide military commanders with the support necessary to coordinate and advise military parents of school-aged children on educational issues and needs and to assist in solving education-related problems.

The goals of the program are to identify barriers to academic success and develop solutions; promote parental involvement in their children's education; develop and coordinate partnerships in education; provide parents with the tools they need to overcome obstacles to education that stem from the military lifestyle; and to promote and educate local communities and schools regarding the needs of military children.

The Army Morale, Welfare, and Recreation Website has a complete listing of all Department of Defense School Liaison Officers at the following address: www.armymwr.com/portal/family/childand youth/school-support.asp. This year's guide includes a listing for the Army SLOs only.

The offices in the listing below are arranged by region (Northeast, West, Southeast, Europe, Korea, Pacific).

ANGIE PEACOCK WOUNDED WARRIOR COLLEGE GRADUATE

WOUNDED WARRIOR PROJECT
CFC #11425

Angie Peacock was coping with post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) after returning from combat. She felt lost. Isolated. Suicidal. But with help from a therapist and Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP), Angie decided to go back to college and enroll in classes. She started to believe in herself again and used her experience to educate the civilian student population on the issues of wounded veterans. Angie has taught us all a lesson in resilience.

WWP programs assist wounded service members and their families as they transition into a successful civilian life.

Soldier and Family Assistance Centers (SFACs)

This listing for the United States Army's Soldier and Family Assistance Centers (SFACs) is correct to the best of our knowledge as of December 2015. We used the information provided by our SFAC contact.

The United States Department of the Army established Soldier and Family Assistance Centers to provide a central location for wounded Soldiers and their families to receive the comprehensive and varied services they need as Soldiers recover from their injuries and they and their families adapt to these changes in their lives.

The My Army Life Too Website (myarmylifetoo.com) describes the program in the following way (at www.myarmylifetoo.com/skins/malt/default.aspx [choose the Virtual Soldier and Family Assistance Center link]):

Wounded and injured Soldiers and their Families expect and deserve the very best care and leadership from America's Army. The Wounded

Soldier and Family Hotline can be reached from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday, at 1-800-984-8523.

SFAC services will be tailored and responsive to the needs of the Warriors in Transition (WT) and their Families. Most services will be present in the SFAC location in order to maximize the convenience to the WTs and their Families. Other services requiring less than a full-time presence will be brought forward to the SFAC at designated times. Still other services will be provided through priority off-site appointments coordinated by the SFAC staff. SFAC sites will provide a warm, relaxed environment where Soldiers and their Families can gather to foster physical, spiritual, and mental healing.

The locations in the listing below are listed alphabetically by state and then alphabetically by installation. The listing is current as of December 2015.

Fisher Houses

This listing for Fisher Houses is correct to the best of our knowledge, as of December 2015. We used the information provided by the Fisher House™ Foundation. For corrections or updates, please contact our military editor at militaryeditor@eparent.com.

For 19 years, the Fisher House program has been easing the burden for families of servicemembers recovering from injuries. The Fisher House Website (www.fisherhouse.org) describes its program in the following way:

A Fisher House™ is "a home away from home" for families of patients receiving medical care at major military and VA medical centers. The homes are normally located within walking distance of the treatment facility or have transportation available.

The Fisher House locations in the listing below are arranged alphabetically by state and then alphabetically by location.

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs

This listing for the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs is correct to the best of our knowledge as of December 2015. We used the information available from the United States Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) (www.va.gov), in a booklet available at www1.va.gov/OPA/vadocs/current_benefits.asp. This booklet, Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents, offers the full listing of VA facilities and other important information for veterans. The list below reflects the healthcare facilities sites for veterans contained in the booklet. For corrections or updates, please contact the Department of Veterans Affairs.

The information in the booklet notes:

Patients should call the telephone numbers listed to obtain clinic hours of operation and services.

The following symbols indicate that additional programs are available at medical centers:

* for nursing-home care units;

for domiciliaries (Domiciliary care provides rehabilitative and long-term healthcare for veterans who require minimal medical care but do not need the skilled nursing services provided in nursing homes. A domiciliary also provides rehabilitative care for veterans who are homeless.)

Please send address and telephone number updates or corrections to:

Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents (80D)

810 Vermont Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20420

Family Organizations

Below you will find a list of organizations that might be of interest to military families with members with disabilities. We are adding new organizations and web links regularly, but if you have a favorite organization or web link that has proven helpful in the past, please let us know so we can add that new organization or web link. Please send the information to the military editor at EP magazine at militaryeditor@eparent.com.

The listings are not all inclusive and are provided as a guide only. This listing is oriented to the families of the men and women who serve in defense of America's freedoms. As a result, the Department of Defense organizations are listed first. The second section contains organizations sponsored by agencies within the Federal Government. The last section, titled Other Helpful Organizations, contains private organizations of interest to our military families. This section may contain state agencies and organizations.

Editor's Note: The appearance of these hyperlinks does not constitute endorsement by Exceptional Parent magazine of any Website or the information, products, or services contained therein. Exceptional Parent magazine does not exercise any editorial control over the information you may find at these locations. These links are provided consistent with our goal of providing the most current and accurate information available to the extent we are able

This directory is current as of December 2015.
